INDEX

A

Abhinavakosa, 23.
Abhissagadā; source of the Sādhana of Sugatsantarāna Lokesvara, 49; of Protasantapita Lokārvāra, 50; two pages illustrated, XXIV, s.
Acāla, name of Candrakritosa, 60, 61.
Acalakuto Lokesvara, described, 186.
Acaśā (7) Lokesvara, described, 189.
Adhyayana, the process described, 187.
Adiviśā. Dhyāna and meditation of, 10; becomes Vajradhāra when represented in human form, xxvii; origin of the theory of, 101n, xxvii; theory accepted in Vajrayāna, xxvii.
Advaya, an advanced stage of Yab-yum when all duality ceases, 164n; meaning of the word in Vajrayāna, 164n.
Advayasvayampravaha, passage on Śunya and its manifestations cited, 184n.
Ajayā, accompanies Buddha-kapala, 64.
Akaramasamvana, the process described, 170.
Åkaraṇa, a Tāntric rite, 60.
Åkāsagarbha, Mortal Bodhisattva, 12.
Åkāśagarbha Lokesvara, described, 183.
Åkṣayamati Lokesvara, described, 183.
Åkṣobhya, a Dhyāni Buddha, 2; his antiquity, 4; described, 4; Dhyāna cited, 81; its significance of his blue colour, 60; his stone images noticed, 4n; representations of, VII, b; c; gods emanating from, 60f; gods arising emanating from, 70f; characteristic of his emanations, 60, 70; Mañjuśrī as an emanation of, 17, 108; his effigy on the crown of Caturbhujav Howuka, 63; Dhyāraṇakalpikā, 89; Ekajāta, 81; Haya-griva, 53, 60; Heruka, 63; Jamhala, 74, 114; Jānguli, 80; Mahākāmapāra, 77; Mahāmanthakṣapāra, 87; Mrāhpratyanuga, 88; Mahāpramanaga, 80; Nairātra, 91; Nāmasaṅgiti Mañjuśrī, 23; Parāśavari, 83, 84, 190; Raktayamāri, 76; Samayavara, 63; Siddhakavira, 21, 20; Siha-Pratijñāpāramitā, 85; Hīnā goddess Tārā, 78; Ucchusma Jamhala, 74, 75; Vajraciśāka, 86; Vajrāngada, 22; Vajrasattva, 6; Vajraōvītriktī, 55; Vaiśrāvatī, 90; Vaiṣṇavājī, 83; Yama, 73; significance of his image on the crown of the Indian Museum figure of Upanișadāya, 101n.
Alphabet, letters of the, represented by the Dhyāni Buddhas, 74.
Amitābha, a Dhyāni Buddha, 2; described, 3; Dhyāna cited, 5n; duty and characteristic of, 3; representations of, VII, a; Bhadrakalpa, the cyclic of, 32; his emanations, 52f, 55f; spiritual father of Avalokiteśvara, 32; his image in the Dace figure of Arapacana, 28; Mañjuśrī as an emanation of, 17; Amitābha and Vajrakīrti distinguished, 48; Amitābha and Vāk distinguished, 48; his effigy on the crown of Aṣṭabhujav Kurukullā, 57; 11 varieties of Avalokiteśvara, 33; Bhūkṣatā, 59; Dharmadātīva Yājīvāra, 17, 19; Kājaṭā, 58; Khasarapa, 37; Lokanātha 40; Mahāvāla, 53; Padmamārtiṇī, 42, 43; Vīkṣaṇa Lokesvara, 47; Nānapratisa Hayagrīva, 53, 54; Tārāvadāv Kurukullā, 58; on the tongue of Vāk, 17, 18; instead of Vajrasattva on the British Museum figure of Candā, 183; instead of the parental Buddha on the crown of the Sārmāth figure of Ucchusma Jamhala, 115; instead of Vairācana on the Lucknow Museum figure of Māhīśūra, 97.
Amitābha Lokesvara, described, 187.
Amitābha Mañjuśrī, name of Vāk, see Vāk.
"Amitāyus Sūtra," see "Sukhavati Vyuha."
Amoghapāsa Lokesvara, described, 186.
Amoghasiddhi, a Dhyāni Buddha, 5; another form of Amitābha, 5; described, 5; Dhyāna cited, 5n; stone image of, 4n; representations of, VII, b; c; character of his emanations, 106; his emanatization, 106ff; his effigy on the crown of Dhyanā Tārā, 108; Khadiravani Tārā, 108; Mahāmāyuri, 111; Paradāvāra, 85, 110, 110; Siddhānu Śitarā, 108; Vajraśakti, 58; Vajrasukhā, 112; appears in the Dace image of Arapacana, 28.
Amṛtocanā, epithet of Prasanna Tārā, 138.
Anurātmukhi, epithet of Prasanna Tāra, 138.
Anuśānanda, author of "Dharmokṣa-antra," 50, 33.
Amṛteprabha Lokesvara, described, 182.
Ananda, disciple of Buddha Śākyamuni, 12; Mortal Bodhisattva, 12; first recipient of the knowledge of Jānguli, 78.
Anandā, four; data for increase in the number of deities, 105.
Anandādi Lokesvara, described, 178.
Anantar, name of Madana, see Madana.
Ananta, name of a serpent lord, 50.
Aśālī Mudrā, exhibited by Mañjuśrī, 34.
Ānjaneyama, see Nāmasaṅgiti, 149; Śadakṣari Lokesvara, 33; Śadakṣari Mahāvīryā, 34; Suddhakumāra, 34; see Glossary.
Anupadhi, see Nāmasaṅgiti, explained, 107.
Anuttara Vajrasattva, yab-yum form of Vajrasattva, 5.
Aparajitā, an independent goddess, 1537, 102; described, 153; Dhyāna cited, 153; her interesting features, 153; her Nāma image identified, 153; illustrated...
Nepalese drawing illustrated, XI. 3; discovery of her complete image, 151; Indian Museum image illustrated, XI. 1, a; accompanies Kurukullä as a minor goddess, 153, 58; why she is not an emanation of Mataramambha, 185.

Āparājita, Sītāpatra see Sītāpatra.

Apron of leaves, special recognition symbol of Bārākāvari, 81.

Arabapaka; significance of the word, 28; a variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an independent god, 27, 28; described, 29; Dhyāṇa cited, 29; origin of Arapacana and his four companions, 29; his Sādhanas, 28; character of his representations, 28; images illustrated, XVI, d, XVII, a-b-c; peculiarities of his Nepal bronze, 28; Arapacana and Siddhākākṣa distinguished, 31; called Prajñācakra when seated on an animal, 28.

Ārāhāpana, name of an Āsana; its two varieties, 42; dancing in, see Dancing.

Ārolika, occurs in the Mantra of Amitābha, 30.

Art Buddhist; its evolution with regard to time and space, xxii. Āśā accompanies Jambhala, 114.

Āṣādava, 1; a disciple of Nāgārjuna, 40; regarded as a Bodhisattva, 17; called a Bodhisattva, 8; author of “Garbhottakā,” 1.

Āyā, Mārtē, variety of Mārtē, described, 95. Ārya Mārtē and Āsokakākṣa distinguished, 95.

Ārya Sāmavati; variety of Sāmavati, 152; described, 152; Nepalese drawing illustrated, XI, e.

Ārvātārā, Divine Buddhaśaktī, 1; illustrated, XI, a.

Āryalārā, variety of Green Tārā, 136; another name of Vaiśāyārā, 107.

Āryavajravārāhī, variety of Vaiśvarāvāhī, 105; extracts from her Dhyāṇa cited, 105m.

Āṣāṅga, all have a deep spiritual significance, 103; for the meaning see Glossary.

Āṣāṅga; regarded as a Bodhisattva, 17; his connection with Maitreya, 13; composer of a Sādhanā for Prajñāpāramitā, 84; introduces Tantra into Mahāyāna, xvii.

Ākoka bough, special symbol of Mārtē, 93; carried by Vaiśravaṇa, 23.

Ākokaśāṅgā, variety of Mārtē, 95; described, 95; Dhyāṇa cited, 95; see Ārya; accompanies Khadiravan 91; 106.

Ākoka tree; Rakta-lokeśvara appears under, 18; special symbol of Mahāmāyā, 131. Āṭṭabhūja Kurukullā, eight-armed variety of Kurukullā, 57ff; described, 58; Dhyāṇa cited, 57ff; Maṇḍala given in the Sādhanās, 57.

Āṭṭabhūja Mārtē, eight-armed variety of Mārtē, 96; described, 96; several images noticed, 97; see Mārtēpīcūvū.

Āṭṭabhākāśā Tārā, variety of White Tārā, 136.

Āvagītā; regarded as a Bodhisattva, 17; called a Bodhisattva, 9; his conception of Nirvāṇa, xvii.

Āvalokitēśvara, significance of the word, 52. Āvalokitēśvara, Bodhisattva, described, 129.

Āvalokitēśvara, Bodhisattva, 32ff; emanation of Amitābha 53; antiquity of the conception of, 51; the period of his activity, 32; his character, moral teachings and miracles, 32; his refusal of Nirvāṇa, 32; an abstract idea, 17; origin of, 17; his functions, 8; Sādhanas of, 32; his dogmatic form is really Nāma- sāṅgiti, 148; antiquity of his images, 52; varieties of, enumerated and described, 32ff; 108 forms of, 35; reason of his having 108 forms, 33; his 108 forms enumerated and described, 177ff; illustrated, XVI, 1-XXI, 5; date and character of the paintings of 108 forms, 32; their discovery, 33; importance of the discovery, 33.

Āvenka Dharman, eighteen, 10.

Āyadeva, another name of Āyadeva, author of Cittāśaktihīpakaśāra, 1n.

Balas, ten, 10.

Bama in the District of Bhirhūm, 25.

Baudhānātha Temple; coloured image of Śaṅkara Lokeśvara to be found in, 35.

Bendale, P. quoted, xxvi; criticized, iv.

Bengal School of Art; its existence not yet recognized, xxiii; its excellences and flourishing period, xxviii; its excellence exemplified, 110.

Bewitching; the process described, 22.

Bhadragalpa, the cycle of Amitābha, 3, 52.

Bhadrasāna, special attitude of Vaiśravaṇa, 107.

Bhairava, name of Hinda god Śiva; trampled by Vajrakumāra, 144.

Bhais, one of the six auspicious symbols, 91; see Sepmuḍra.

Bhattacharyya, B. C.; his identification of Mahākāli criticized, 91.

Bhaktiśakti, N. K., 38; discoverer of the image of Dvibhūja Lokeśvara, 92; of Khasarapa, 38; of the two Vikrampur images of Pārāśāvarī, 110.

Bhūmā, accompanies Buddhākāpāla, 84.

Bhūmipalāsa, 89.

Bhūmasāḍhaṇī, epithet of Vaiśravāndhārti, 155.

Bhūrkuti, 57; emanation of Amitābha, 55; described, 59; Dhyāṇa cited, 59; Gobha’s image of Bhūrkuti should be identified as Grahāmālakā, 59; a variety of Yellow Tārā, 138; her description as a minor deity, 38; accompanies Avalokiteśvara, 59; Khasarapa, 38, 36, 59; Padmanar- teśvara, 42, 43; Rakta-Lokeśvara, 46.

Bhūmiparśa Madhūra, described, 4; see Glossary.

Bhūriṣṭi, accompanies Padmanarāśāvara, 83.

Bhūtāsa, trampled by Mahāśāhasraparman, 139.

Bhutādāmara, an independent god, 144ff; described, 145; Dhyāṇa cited, 144.

Bhuvanēśvara, Hinda goddess; Mañjuvāra, identified as, 25n.

Bhūma; significance of the word, 142; represented by Gāyesa, 84; trampled by Pārāśāvara, 84.

Bhūmānta, an independent god, 142ff;
associated with three other ‘Antaka’ gods 143; described, 143; Dhyāna cited, 143; his legendary origin, 145; tramples upon Gāpatā, 84n; his image illustrated, XXXIX, 9.

Bibhum, image of Mañjuśrī found in, 25; image of Sadakṣari group found in, 34.

Bibhrama, image of Vīvaranyā found in, 25n.

Blue, significance of the colour, 60.

Blue Tārā (Extraordinary); enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 128.

Both Gāyā, 14; image of Trailokayavijaya found in, 146.

Bodhisattva, work of Sāntideva, xxv.

Bodhi Tree, mind which has acquired the potentiality of dissolving in Sūnyā, 160; is Sūnyā in essence, 166; has no real existence, 166; its transformation in the form of Mudrā, 166; its transformation in the form of weapons, 166.

Bodhisattva, derivation of the word and meaning, xv; significance of the term, xv; application of the term in Huen Thang’s time, 8; Buddha, Bodhikṣaṭṭis and, 8.

Bodhi Tree, characteristic sign of Mahāpratīṣṭhā, 135.

Bodhi Trees of the 24 Past Buddhas, 10.

Booke, symbol of Mahājñāna, 17.

Bo-tree, special sign of Mahāsāṃghakramaṇa, 135.

Bowling, attitude shown by Bṛhari, 38; by Hayagriva, 38.

Bowls, found in images of Dhyāni Buddhas, 3.

Brahmā, Hindu God; his position in the Buddhist Pantheon, 83n; trampled by Daśabhujadāta (Mañjñī), 99; by Uṣṇīsva-rāhāṇana (Mañjñī, 98; disgraced by Praśanna Tārā, 130; his severed head flourished by Uṣṇīsva-rāhāṇana (Mañjñī, 98; by Praśanna Tārā, 130.

Brahmā, four; enumerated, 171; see Caturbrahmāvahāra.

 Brahmadānje Lokēvāra, described, 140.

 Brahmasakapala (severed head of Brahma); remembered by Buddhist déities, 103; by Vajrasarvasvatī, 172; see Brahmanukha.

 Brahmanukha, one of the faces of Para-kāya, 147.

 Brahmananda, author of Tārārahaṇa, 77; his time, 77n.

 Buddha, Gautama, 11f, 34; his divinity acknowledged in Mahāyāna, xiv; his first statue in Gandharā School, 11x; see Gautama.

 Buddha, significance of the term used in the Sādhanamālā, 26; external characteristics of a, 9; mental characteristics of a, 10; description of a, 9.

 Buddha on lotus, characteristic symbol of Vajrapāṇī, 101.

 Buddha in Vājraśana, 11f; described, 11; Dhyāna cited, 11; his image illustrated, XIII, a.

 Buddha, Buddhasakas and Bodhisattvas, 1ff; Mānusi or Mortal, 1ff; twenty-four Past, 10; Mortal, see Mortal Buddha; Dhyāni or Divine, see Dhyāni Buddhas.

Buddhādākini, name of Vajravārahī, 103; Sakti of Mahāmāyā, 67; described, 68; Dhyāna quoted, 88n.

Buddhabod, conferred by Heruka when worshipped, 81.

Buddhakapāla, variety of Heruka, 60, 63; an emanation of Akṣobhya, 63; described, 64; Dhyāna cited 69ff; his Mahājñāna described, 64; his companions described, 64; his Nepalese drawing illustrated, XXV, 5.

Buddhakśaṭṭis, Buddhā and Bodhisattvas, 1ff; see Mortal and Divine Buddhasakāsa.

Buddhism, a brief historical survey of, 1ff; its condition when Buddha was alive, ix; schisms in, ix; rise of different schools of, ix.

Buddhists, their attitude towards the Hindu gods, 162ff.

Buddo, characteristic Vāhana of Yamā, 70; Kṛṣṇayāmari, 71; of Yamadūti, a minor goddess, 121.

C

Cālitya, residence of Aśṭabhujā Mañjñī, 96; on the crown of Mañjñī, 97; what it signifies, 14; see Stūpa.

Cakravatapura Tentra treats of the union of Heruka and Vajravārahī, 103.

Campaka Tree, special tree of Mahāsāṃghakramaṇa, 135.

Carmanakāraṇa Tentra, 61.

Carmanakāraṇa, an emanation of Akṣobhya, 60ff; his alternative form emanating from the five Dhyāni Buddhas, 60n; described, 61; Dhyāna cited, 60; drawing illustrated, XXV, a.

Candavajrapāṇī, a Yaksa general, 165.

CandESA, companions Mahākāla, 122; described, 122.

Candraprabha, companions Arapacana, 28, 17; Siddhākṣara, 21.

Candraprabha, companions Lokeśvara, described, 142.

Capotadāna Mudrā, exhibited by Aparajita, 154; see Glossary.

Cāreṣṭikā, companions Mahākāla, 125; described, 122.

Carentra, companions Jambhala, 114.

Catubhiṣṭikā, work of Āryadeva; in. Catubhibhūja Heruka, variety of 'ruka, 65; described, 65.

Catubhiṣṭikā, Catubhiṣṭikā, a variety of White Tārā, 137.

Catubhiṣṭikā, Lokeśvara, name given to Sadaksāri Lokeśvara by Waddell, 84.

Catubhramavahāra, the process described, 171.

Chain, see Śrākula.

Chinnamastā, Hindu name of Vajrayogini, 155; reasons for thinking her to be a Buddhist goddess, 155n.

Chīnas, Mañjñī hailed from, 15.

Cintāmani Datta, author of the Sadhana of Vādīrāj, 31.

Cintāmani Lokeśvara, described, 187.

Citrakī, companions Jambhala, 114.

Citraśāṇi, Sakti of Buddhakapāla, 68; described, 64.

Citrakī, symbol of Jambhala, 114.
Cittadhātu Lokēvara, described, 187.
Cittadhana-prakaraṇa, In; see Cittavasu-prakaraṇa.
Cittavasu-prakaraṇa, Vaśishṭana mentioned in, 4; its date discussed, 1; mentions Dhyāni Buddhās and therefore later than 700 A.D., xxvii.
Civikupallā, accompanies Jambhala, 114.
Colour, has a spiritual significance, 103.
Comilla, image of Dvibhūja Heruka found in, 83.
Confession of sins, the process described, 169.
Coomarasawamy, Dr. A.; on Cundā, 132; criticized, 139.
Corpses lying on its breast, prescribed for Dvibhūja Heruka, 62n.
Cults; origin and nature of cults in Vajrayāna, xxviii; responsible for discrepancy of parental Dhyāni Buddhās in images, 100ff.
Cundā, different spellings of her name, 131; an emanation of Vajraseṭṭva, 131; described, 131; Dhyāna cited, 131; her Java figure does not follow Sāchana, 131; as a minor goddess described, 58.
Cundāvahāhavanaya, containing a 10-armed image of Cundā, 131.

D

Dacca Museum contains images of Arapacana, 28; Dvibhūja Heruka, 62; Khadairavani Tārā, 107; Māric, 97.
Dākini, name of Vajrayāra, 94, 103.
Dākini accompanies Vajrayāra, 104.
Dāmare Mudrā, described, 146n.
Denying attitude in Abdhaparyanka exhibited by Buddhakapāla, 4; his companions, 64; Dvibhūja Heruka, 62; Naǐrāṇāya, 90; Vajracīkā, 89; Vajrayāra, 94, 106.
Dānja, characteristic weapon of Hayagrīva, 54.
Dassabhañjaśita Māric, 98ff; described, 98ff; her companions described, 99; Nepalese drawing illustrated, XXXI, b.
Dātā accompanies Jambhala, 114.
Development of the letters of the Mantra of Vajrāśāra, 125, 129.
Deities, Buddhist; their scientific classification, VII; data for their increase in numbers, xxix, 165; are transformations of Sūnyā, 165; how they are attracted from the rays of the Vajrāntara, 165.
Deities, Hindu; how disgraced by Buddhist devotees, 102ff.
Devadattā Lokēvara, described, 185.
Devi accompanies Jambhala, 114.
Dhanda, name of Hindu Kuvara; trampled by Ucchusma Jambhala, 75.
Dhanda accompanies Jambhala, 114.
Dhanda Tārā, a variety of Green Tārā, 137; an emanation of Amoghaśiddhi, 109; described, 109; Dhyāna cited, 109; Nepalese drawing illustrated, XXXII, c.
Dhāraṇā; first citation in Śīkādamūcaya, xxv.
Dharma, member of the Holy Triad, 34; described, xxn.
Dharmacakra Lokēvara, described, 186.
Dharmacakra Mañjuśrī, name given to Mañjuśrī by the Nepalese, 26n.
Dharmacakra Mudrā, described, 4ff, see Glossary.
Dharmadāra, Mortal Bodhisātta, 12.
Dharmadhātu Lokēvara, described, 159.
Dharmadhātu Vāgāvāra, variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an emanation of Amitābha, 17, 18ff; described, 19; Dhyāna cited, 19.
Dhmākāra, king of China, 10.
Dharmakeṣaragruha, a work of Āryānanda, 6n; source of the Dhyāna of Nāmaaśāgati, 149; Sukhāvati Lokēvara, 50; of three independent goddesses, 167.
Dharmakeṣaragruha, work of Nāgājuna, 10, 9; its date discussed, xxvii.
Dharmaśākhasamādhi, name of Vāk, see Vāk.
Dhyānas in Sādhanas; most important in identifying images, V; relation between Dhyānas and images, 159. For the meaning of Dhyāna, see Glossary.
Dhyānasans, exhibited by the Dhayalī Buddhās, 2, see Glossary.
Dhayāṇī Buddhās, their antiquity, 1ff; order and enumeration, 2; different theories about their origin, 2; character of, I; general appearance of the, 2; represented on the Śūpas; nature of their representations, 2; miniatures of, 3n; hints for identifying their images, 1ff; most important factor in identifying images, 159; what their presence in images indicates, 159; reasons why parental Dhayāṇī Buddhās are sometimes different, 160; if prescribed Dhayāṇī Buddhās are not present in images, 160; tabular statement showing the relation between Buddhās and the Bodhisattvas and. 9.
Dhyāṇī Buddhās, five; enumerated, 119, 2; their emanations 119ff, 123ff; their emanations enumerated, 119, 123; Mañjuśrī as an emanation of, 17, 24ff; their images on the aureole behind Mañjuśrī figures, 14; Āryaṅkasa as an emanation of, 60n; their images on the crown of Dharmadhātu Vāgāvāra, 16n; Mahākāla, 121; Mañjuśrī, 25; Mañjuśrī, 26; Jambhala, 114; Māyājālanijama Kurukullā, 127; Sitaṭāra, 128; Vajrādharma, 57, 47, 53; Vajrāśāra, 124.
Dhyāṇī Buddhās, four; Vajrāśāra only emanation of, 129.
Dhūpa accompanies Lokanātha, 38.
Dhupatāra accompanies Vajrāśāra, described, 124.
Dhvajārakṣeyūrā, emanation of Akṣobhya, 88; two varieties, 88; Dhyāna of the 1st variety cited, 88; described, 89; 2nd variety described, 90; illustrated, XXXIX, d.
Dhikhit, K. N.; Mahā image of Simhanāḍa described by, 36; on the Hīranyavimāna image of Śaḍakṣari Lokāvara, 34; criticized, 35.
Dīpā, companion of Lokanātha, 38.
Dīpātāra accompanies Vajrāśāra, described, 124.
Diseases; Simhanāḍa, curer of, 35.
Divine Buddhās, see Dharmākāra Buddhās.
Divine Buddhās, 7; enumerated, 7; character of, 7; described, 7; hints for identifying their images, 7ff; illustrated, X, X1, a; source of the illustrations, 8n; tabular statement showing their relation with the Dhyāni Buddhas and Bodhisattvas, 9.

Divine Bodhisattvas, 8; their duties, 8; enumerated, 8; attempt to connect them with the last five Mortal Buddhas criticized, 10; hints for identifying their images, 8; illustrated, XI, b-f; tabular statement showing their connection with the Dhyāni Buddhas and Bodhisattvas, 9.

Dragons, a pair of; Vāhana of Vairocana, 4, 5.

Drawings illustrated in this book are ancient and therefore authoritative as material for study, viii.

Durgā, a Hindu goddess, 116n.

Durgotāriṇī Tārā, variety of Green Tārā, 137.

Durjayā accompanies Buddhakapāla, 61.

Dvībhujā Heruka, variety of Heruka, 61ff; described, 62; Dhyāna cited 62; corpse lying on its breast prescribed for, 62n.

E

Ear of corn, special symbol of Vasudhārā, 17.

Ekajāta, 106; an emanation of Akṣobhya, 80ff; her character and functions, 80; described 81; first three varieties distinguished, 81; Dhyāna cited, 80; illustrated XXVII, d, XXVIII, a; a variety of Blue Tārā, 139; accompanies Āśā-buchā Kurukullā as a minor goddess, 58; Khadiravānī Tārā, 106.

Elephant, Vāhana of Akṣobhya, 4; appears in drawings of Harisharavaiśanodbhava, 45.

Ellora, images of Mortal Buddhas in the Cave Temples at, 10n. xx; images of Mañjuśrī absent in, 15; images of Maitreya found in, 13.

Exrocesence to the right ear; characteristic sign of Vajravārāhī, 193.

Ganapati, name of Gaṇeśa, 153; an independent god, 142; described, 142; Dhyāna cited, 142.

Ganapatihrdayā, an independent goddess, 157; described, 157; Dhyāna cited, 158; illustrated, XLIId.

‘Gaṇapatisamākāṇā,’ meaning of the word, 153.

Gaṇeśa, legendary story of his struggle with Bṛhadāntaka, 143; his defeat, 143; his presence in Buddhist images, 102; trampled by Aparajitā, 153; Darāvārī, 84.

Garūḍa, Vāhana of Amoghaśuddhi, 5; of Harisharavaiśanodbhava, 6.

Gaurī, trampled by Trailokyavrījaya, 147.

Gautarāṇa accompanies Āstābhuja Kuruk-

kullā, 58.

Gautama Buddha, 118; last in the group of the Seven Mortal Buddhas, 41; his images are an independent study, 41; his disappearance, 13, 8.

Germany, image of Vajravārāhī in, 105.

Geo. Gifford, Miss Alice, author of The Gods of Northern Buddhism; on the iconography of Maitreya, 13; on Vajravārāhī, 103; on the origin of Yamā, 69; criticized, 59; calls Nāmasuṣṭā “a Diagnostic form of Avalokiteśvara,” 148.

Ghantā carried by the Indian Museum image of Vāgīśvara, 24.

Ghantāpāṇi, a Dīvīne Bodhisattva, 8; and Vajrāṇi distinguished, 9.

Ghoracanḍi accompanies Saptakāśya, 68.

Grāhamatārā, an independent goddess, 157; described, 157; Dhyāna cited, 157; illustrated, XLIId, c; Miss Gettys Dharmati should be identified as, 59.

Green Tārā, Ordinance, 139; enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 139; Extraordinary, enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 137.

Guhārāṇḍavatūrīya; character, moral teachings and miracles of Avalokiteśvara described in, 32.

Guptā accompanies Jambhala, 114.

F

Fa-Hien, Buddhist gods mentioned by, xxv; Mañjuśrī mentioned by, 15.

Foucher, Prof., Dr. A.; the only systematic worker in the field of Indian Buddhist Iconography, 1ff; criticized, 129n, 131, 132n; varieties of Avalokiteśvara recorded by, 32; on Tārā, 135.

Future Buddha, Maitreya, see Maitreya.

G

Ganagnāśa accompanies Lokanātha, 38.

Ganagnāśa Lokācāra, described, 183.

Gandhāra accompanies Lokanātha, 38.

Ganapatihrdayā, name of Gaṇeśa, 153; an independent god, 142; described, 142; Dhyāna cited, 142.

Ganapatihrdayā, an independent goddess, 157; described, 157; Dhyāna cited, 158; illustrated, XLIId.

‘Gaṇapatisamākāṇā,’ meaning of the word, 153.

Gaṇeśa, legendary story of his struggle with Bṛhadāntaka, 143; his defeat, 143; his presence in Buddhist images, 102; trampled by Aparajitā, 153; Darāvārī, 84.

Garūḍa, Vāhana of Amoghaśuddhi, 5; of Harisharavaiśanodbhava, 6.

Gaurī, trampled by Trailokyavrījaya, 147.

Gautarāṇa accompanies Āstābhuja Kuruk-

kullā, 58.

Gautama Buddha, 118; last in the group of the Seven Mortal Buddhas, 11; his images are an independent study, 11; his disappearance, 13, 8.

Germany, image of Vajravārāhī in, 105.

Geo. Gifford, Miss Alice, author of The Gods of Northern Buddhism; on the iconography of Maitreya, 13; on Vajravārāhī, 103; on the origin of Yamā, 69; criticized, 59; calls Nāmasuṣṭā “a Diagnostic form of Avalokiteśvara,” 148.

Ghantā carried by the Indian Museum image of Vāgīśvara, 24.

Ghantāpāṇi, a Dīvīne Bodhisattva, 8; and Vajrāṇi distinguished, 9.

Ghoracanḍi accompanies Saptakāśya, 68.

Grāhamatārā, an independent goddess, 157; described, 157; Dhyāna cited, 157; illustrated, XLIId, c; Miss Gettys Dharmati should be identified as, 59.

Green Tārā, Ordinance, 139; enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 139; Extraordinary, enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 137.

Guhārāṇḍavatūrīya; character, moral teachings and miracles of Avalokiteśvara described in, 32.

Guptā accompanies Jambhala, 114.

H

Hālāhala Lokācāra, variety of Avalokiteśavāra, 40ff; described, 41, 177; Dhyāna cited, 41; his Sakti, 40; his Sakti described, 41; character of his images, 40; illustrated, XLIId, c.

Harā, see Śiva.

Haraprasād Śāstri, Mahāmahopādhyāya; on Tantra, xviii.

Hari, see Viśu.

Hari, different meanings of the word, 44.

Harīharā Lokācāra, described, 186.

Harīharavaiśanodbhava Lokācāra, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 44ff; significance of his name, 44; special characteristics of, 41; Dhyāna cited, 44; described 44ff, 177; illustrated, XLIId, XIIIf, XLIId, a-b; special features of his drawings, 45; peculiarity of his Pātan image, 45.

Harīvāhana Lokācāra, described, 186.
Hayagrīva, 37, 60; his different forms, 53; an emanation of Aksobhya, 68ff.; described, 60; illustrated, XXV, d; as a minor deity, 38; accompanies Khasarpaya, 36, 38; Loga-nātha, 37, 38, 39; Padmasānti-śākya, 42. Hayagrīva of Hindu Vajrayāna System, 159. Hayagrīva Lokesvarā, described, 177. Hayagrīva, Saptāśatika, see Saptāśatika. Heruka, Jn, 42, 60, 63; an emanation of Aksobhya, 68ff.; varieties of, 81; his Nāmaśākāra cited, 63; becomes Buddhacakāla when embraced by Citrasenā, 63; Mahāmāya when embraced by Budhdakini, 87; Vajradaka when embraced by Vajrayārāhi, 64; his union with Vajrayārāhi, 103; his consort Vajraya-yogini, 150. Heruka, Caturbhujā see Caturbhujā Heruka, Heruka. Herukāśaṃcara treaties of the union of Vajrayogini with Heruka, 103. Herukāśaṃcara Saptāśatika, 86. Hevajrakumāra Kurukullā, variety of Kur-kullā, 150. Hīmāyāna, see Mahāyāna. Hīmavānīṣṭa, Maiṣṭreya worshipped by, 13. Hindu gods; how disregarded by the Buddhists, 100ff.; examples 102ff. Hindus, their attitude towards Buddha, 163. Hiranyakarṣa, see Brahmā. Huien T'ang; famous Buddhist regarded as Bodhisattva God of Power in his time, 17; Buddhist gods mentioned by, xxv; on the image of Maiśtreya in Udāyāna, 13; Maiśtrēya mentioned by, 15. Horse, Vāhana of Kālādūti.

I

Icon, its conception and representation in Buddhism, xiii; Buddhist icon analyzed, 161. Iconography, Buddhist; its importance, i; difficulties of the investigator, i; previous workers in the field, i; materials for the study of, ii; dependent upon the doctrine of Sūnyatā, xiii. Identification of Buddhist images; hints for, 159; grounds of, vii; its pitfalls exemplified, 161; when parental Buddha is different, 160ff. Images of Buddhist deities, their antiquity, vi; their extent and find spots, viii; hints for their identification, 159ff.; how modified, 159; their utility 163; never supported by a true Vajrayānīśī 163. Independent Deities, 141ff.; reasons for a separate chapter, 141; their proposed classification, 141a; their number, 141; their nature and description, 141ff. Independent Goddesses, 141ff.; their number, 149; impossibility of classifying them according to colour, 150. Indian Museum, image of two-armed Ekajāta deposited in, 81; Khadiravan 108ff.; Maiśtrēya, 26; Māricī, 97; Seven Mortal Buddhas, 10; Nairātma, 91; Suddhākari Lokadhāra, 34; Vajrasānti, 150; Vāgāvāra, 24; Vajraśāna Buddha, 11. Indra, why the attendant of Aparājītā should be identified as, 154n; holds the parasol of Aparājītā, 154; trampled by Daśabhujāṣṭa Māricī, 99; by Paramāvā, 148; Prasanna Tārā, 150; pays homage to Udbhayaṇa Māricī, 98. Indrabhūti, king of Udbhayaṇa, 1; a Sāddhāārya, 57; probably founder of the, Vajrayāna System, 159. Indrāni trampled by Paramāvā, 147. I-Tsung, Buddhist gods mentioned by, xxv; Maiśtrēya mentioned by, 15. J

Jālinprabhā, companion of Maiśtrēya, 17; of Sāddhāṇačāra, 21; see Sūryaprabha. Jalālprabhā Lokesvarā, described, 182. Jamadānḍa Lokesvarā, described, 181. Janmabhāle, the Buddhist God of Wealth, 60; his antiquity, 73; a parallel of Maiśtrēya 73; discrepancy as to his parental Buddha, 73, 113; better antiquity than his parental Buddhas, 113; varieties, 114, 119; an emanation of Aksobhya, 73ff.; how assigned to Rānasambhava, 113; emanation of Vajrasattva, 130; emanation of five Dhyāni Buddhas, 119; only peaceful deity emanating from Aksobhya, 60; his Dhyāna cited, 74; described, 114, 119, 130; sometimes represented with Saktī, 114; his Sakti, 74; hints for identifying his images, 114; his images illustrated, XXXIV, 4-4c, XXVI, c.; his image to be found in all schools of art, 73; his Java image erroneously identified by Vincent Smith as Sarasvatī, 150n. Jānguli, 106; her antiquity, 78; goddess of snake-bite, 78ff.; variety of White Tārā, 138; variety of Yellow Tārā, 138; an emanation of Aksobhya, 78; three varieties, 78ff.; first variety described, 79; second variety, 79; third variety, 79ff.; Dhyāna of the first variety cited, 79ff; third variety, 79; first variety illustrated, XXVII, c. Jātāmukuta Lokesvarā, described, 178. Java, image of Pita-Prajāpāramitā found in, 88; Java image of Cundā does not follow Sāddhāna, 151. Java Art, indebtedness to Bengal Art, xxiii. Jayā accompanies Buddhakāpāla, 64. Jayākara trampled by Paramāvā, 148. Jayatārā accompanies Daśabhujā Kurukullā, described, 58. Jinajīka, name of Vairocana, 59. Jinas, Dhyān Buddha called as, 2. Jñānadātā Lokesvarā, described, 181. Jñānaśiddhi, work of Indrabhūti, cited, 166n.

K

alpokta Kurukullā, variety of Kurukullā, 65.
Āmādeva and his wife appear under the ame of Tārābhava Kurukullā, 58.
Āmalacandra Lokeśvara, described, 184.
Āmalāśāhārya Lokeśvara, described, 178.
Āminī accompanies Buddhakapāla, 64.
Ānanda, Mortal Buddha, 10.
Ānurāj, Mortal Bodhisattva, 12.
Ānurājī, flowers, carried by Vajrānaga,
22.
Ānurājamālinī, Mortal Buddhāsaktī, 12.
Ānurājī, one of the six auspicious symbols,
see Śaṇmudrā.
Ānurājālinī accompanies Buddhakapāla,
64.
Āraṇa Mudrā correctly represented in XXv.
d.
Āraṇāvyūha, 52; characteristics of Avalok iteśvara recorded in, 32; cited 32n;
Āraṇāvyūha, 32n. Dhyāna of Sādakṣarī Lokeśvara restored from, 34.
Āraṇāvyūha Lokeśvara, described, 182.
Āraṇāvyūha Lokeśvara, described, 64.
Āraṇāvyūha Lokeśvara, described, 182.
Āraṇāvyūha Lokeśvara, described, 64.
Ārati, name of a serpent lord, 56.
Ārhatārā accompanies Āstabhūja Kurukullā, described, 58.
Ārjuna, defined, 171.
Āśāyapa, Mortal Buddha, 10; his connection with Maitreya, 14.
Āsvānī accompanies Buddhakapāla, 64.
Āśaya, three; data for increase in number of deities, 162.
Āśīmālī accompanies Jamblāha, 114.
Āṣṭāṅga, Dr. H.; criticized, xviii.
Āśīnī, accompanies Mājjuśrī, 17; Siddha kavrā, 21; Āraṣpatana, 28; appears in the image of Maśjuvara, 26.
Āṣṭāṅgadvanta Tārā, emanation of Amogha siddhi, 106f; a variety of Green Tārā,
138; described, 106; Dhyāna cited, 106;
illustrated, XXII, c-d-e; and Śīlātārī distinguished, 127.
Āṣṭāṅgadhara accompanies Lokanātha, 38, 40.
Āṣṭāṅgadhara-Śiddhākavrā, 104.
Khasarpāṇa, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 36;
very popular amongst the Mahāyānists,
36; described, 180, 37; Dhyāna cited, 37;
and Lokanātha distinguished, 39; 37;
illustrated, XX, c, XXI.
Khasarpāṇa, special for Dhruvījaya Uruka, 62.
Khasarpāṇa, five spiritual, enumerated,
104n, see Skandha.
Kot-bar, 16.
Krakuchanda, Mortal Buddha, 10.
Kṛṣṇa, significance of the word in Buddhist
Iconography, 163.
Kṛṣṇāyāmāri, 60; a variety of Yāmāri, 71f;
three varieties noticed, 71; first variety described, 71; second variety 72; third variety, 73; Dhyāna of the first variety cited 71; second variety 72; third variety,
73; illustrated, XXVI, a; third variety
illustrated, XXVII, b.
Kṛṣṇāyāmāri Lokeśvara, described, 188.
Kṛṣṇāya Mudrā, exhibited by Nāmasaṅgiti,
149.
Kṛṣṇa Lokeśvara, described, 188.
Kṛṣṇāya Mudrā, exhibited by Nāmasaṅgiti,
149.
Kṛṣṇāya Lokeśvara, described, 188.
Kṛṣṇāya Lokeśvara, described, 188.
K ⟛āurai, author of Mahābhūtadādana,
87.
Kṛṣṇāyāmāri, Mountain marking the place of Āśāyapa Buddha, 18.
Kulika, name of a serpent lord, 56.
Kulīśevārī accompanies Mahākāla, described 122.
Kurukullā, name of a mountain; residence of Kurukullā, 58.
Kurukullā, emanation of Amogha, 55;
variety of White Tārā, 138; the only red Tārā, 140; varieties of, 55; a resume of her different forms, 140; Mantra cited,
55; her Tibetan forms, 56n.
Kurukullā, Āstabhūja, see Āstabhūja Kurukullā
Kurukullā, Kalpokta, see Kalpokta Kurukullā.
Kurukullā, Māyājālakrāma, see Māyājālakr krāma Kurukullā.
Kurukullā, Odīyāna see Odīyāna Kurukullā.
Kurukullā, Tārābhava, see Tārābhava
Kurukullā.
Kurukullā, Śūkla, see Śūkla Kurukullā.
Kuvara, name of a Hindu god; trampled by Ucehūma Jamblāha, 115; see Dhanada.
Kva Vahal, a Vihāra at Paṭan in Nepal, 15.

L

Lakṣmiṇikārā, daughter of Indrabhūti, xxvin,
57; founder of Suhaśayana, 77.
Lāmān accompanies Vajravārāhi, 104.
Laugh, angry; indication of Parāśakrī and an emanation of Amoghaśiddhi, 110.
Lion, Vahanā of Mahānugosh, 19, 20; Maśju
vara, 25; Simhanāda, 35, 36; Ratnasam abhava, 5; Vāgīvara, 24.
Locana, and others offer homage to Dhanada
Vārāhi, 109; Divine Buddhāsaktī, 7;
illustrated, X, b.
Lokanātha, 38f; described, 39; Dhyāna cited, 39; his companions enumerated and described 38f; illustrated, XX, d,
XXII, a-b; earliest image found at Sarnath, 40; and Khasarpāṇa distinguished,
37, 39; and Lokanātha distinguished, 21; his Maṇḍala described,
40, 39; constitution of the Maṇḍala, 39.
Lokanātha-rākṣārya-Avalokiteśvara, described,
178.
Lokēvara, companion of Vajrānā, 11;
see Avalokiteśvara, 32.
Love, Buddhist god of, 22; Hindu god of,
22; distinction between the Hindu and
Buddhist gods of, 22.
Lucknow Museum, Sarnath image of Mārīci
in the, 97.

M

Macchanadar Vahal, name of a Vihāra in Nepal, 50; paintings of 108 forms of Avalokiteśvara discovered at, 39.
Madana and Vajrānā distinguished, 22.
Mādhavacāryya on Nirvānā, xxvin.
Madhūkara trampled by Paramāśā, 148.
Mahā-abhayakāri Lokesvara, described,
184.
Mahā-abhayapahala Lokesvara, described,
184.
Mahā-gāndharoṣaṇa, see Gāndharoṣaṇa.
Mahāgāndharobimba Lokesvara, described, 184.
Mahācāna Tantra, source of Mahācānatarā Sādhanā, 77.

Mahācānatarā, emanation of Akṣobhya, 76f; a variety of Blue Tārā, 138; described, 77; Dhyāna cited, 76; borrowed by the Hindus, 77; illustrated, XXVII, a-b.

Mahākāla, emanation of the five Dhyāni Buddhas, 120; his popularity, 120; his terrible functions, 122; varieties, 120; Dhyāna cited, 120; four-armed variety described, 120; six-armed variety described, 121; sixteen-armed variety described, 121; Prajñā accompanies when 18-armed, 121; Dhyānas cited, 120, 121; illustrated, XXXVI, a; his Maṇḍala described, 121f.

Mahāmāyājī bhūtā Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāmāyājī datā Lokesvāra, described, 181.

Mahāmāyājīṣuśāriṇī, an emanation of Akṣobhya, 87, 76; Dhyāna cited, 87; described, 87; a Pañcarākṣa goddess, 87; extracts from her Dhyāna cited, 134n; illustrated, 134; illustrated, XXXVIII, b.

Mahāmātī, Mortal Bodhisattva, 12.

Mahāmāyā, variety of Vajradāka, 64, 67f; described, 67f; Dhyāna cited, 67n; his Maṇḍala described, 67n; his companions described, 68.

Mahāmāyā, consort of Mahākāla, accompanies Mahākāla, described, 121.

Mahāmāyārū, emanation of Amoghasiddhi, 111; described, 111; Dhyāna cited, 111; as a Pañcarākṣa goddess described, 134; extracts from her Dhyāna cited, 134n; illustrated, XXXVIII, a; accompanying Sitātārā, 127; described, 129.

Mahāpadma, name of a serpent lord, 56.

Mahāpañcarākaśa Deities; their popularity, 132; see Pañcarākaśa.

Mahāpatalā Lokesvāra, 184.

Mahāpratibhās, emanation of Ratnasambhava, 113, 116, 117; varieties of, 116; described, 116; Dhyāna cited, 118; her images illustrated, XXXV, b-c; worshipped in Maṇḍala as a Pañcarākṣa goddess, 116, 138; described, 138; extracts from her Dhyāna cited, 138n; illustrated, XXXVII, c; worshipped by the Hindus in the annual festival of Durgā, 116n.

Mahāprajñā, emanation of Akṣobhya, 87f; described, 88; Dhyāna cited, 88; illustrated, XXXIX, a-b-c.

Mahārajajīllā, same as Ardhanarīśvara, see Ardhanarīśvara.

Mahārajajiliā Mañjunātra, see Vaiśātāvāra.

Mahāsambhava Lokesvāra, described, 183.

Mahāsahasrabhuja Lokesvāra, described, 183.

Mahāsahasrapramardañj, emanation of Vairocana, 102; described, 102; Dhyāna cited, 102; as a Pañcarākṣa goddess, 133; extracts from her Dhyāna cited, 133n; illustrated, XXXVII, 3.

Mahāsahasrasthārya Lokesvāra, described, 183f.

Mahāsthālampriṣṭa, forerunners of the Mahāyāna, x; first conceded Avalokiteśvara, 51.

Mahāsthālampriṣṭa Lokesvāra, described, 183.

Mahāsthālampriṣṭa variety of Saravatī, 156f; described, 151; Dhyāna cited, 150; illustrated, XL c; her Maṇḍala, 151n.

Mahāsthālampriṣṭa, emanation of Amītābha, 55; described, 58; Dhyāna cited, 59; described as a Pañcarākṣa goddess 134; extracts from her Dhyāna cited, 135n; illustrated, XXXVIII, c.

Mahāsthālampriṣṭa Lokesvāra, described, 188.

Mahāukha combined with Vijñāna gives rise to Vajrayāna, xii.

Mahāārājavamsa Lokesvāra, described, 184.

Mahātārā, variety of Green Tārā, described, 136.

Mahāvajradhātu Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāvajradhātuk Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāvajrajñānāth Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāvajrapāṇi Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāvajrasattva Lokesvāra, described, 181.

Mahāvajra, emanation of, 38, 56; described, 58; Dhyāna cited, 53.

Mahāvajrayānī Avalokiteśvara; first reference to Avalokiteśvara is found in, 51.

Mahāvairādhā Lokesvāra, described, 185.

Mahāvajrayāna and Hinayāna; points of agreement, xiv; points of difference, xivf.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajra, Maṇḍala described, 67n; his companions described, 68.

Mahāvajra, Mortal Buddhakṣatā, 12.

Mahāvajra, image of Simhanāda discovered at, 30.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.

Mahāvajrayāna; companions Budhdakapāla, 64.
Buddhist Pantheon, 15; his antiquity, 15; 28; his mention in Fa-Hien, 15n.; merit arising out of his worship, 15; his life, 15f.; his activities in Nepal, 15; Sādhana of, 15; his origin and parental Buddhas, 27ff., 28; as an independent deity, 15, 27f.; his images in different schools of art, 15; their identification not properly done, 31; distinction between Prajñāpāramitā and, 31; Sīkṣānāda Lokākāra and, 32; assumes the form of Yamantaka, 70.

Mañjuśrī Hill or Swayambhūksettra in Nepal, 15.

Mañjuśrī, variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an emanation of the five Dhyāni Buddhas, 20; his parental Buddha, 20; described and Dhyāna cited, 26.

Mañjuśrī, variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an emanation of the five Dhyāni Buddhas, 25, 26; Dhyāna cited, 25; images noticed, 26; illustrated, XV, b-d, XVI, a, b; identified as Bhuvaneśvara, 25; as Sīkṣānāda Lokākāra, 25; distinction between Mañjuśrīs and, 19.

Mantras, our chief guide in determining different names of Mañjuśrī; their derivation, a pitfall in identification, 102; identification exemplified, 102; of Vajratāra defined, 125, 129. Efficiency, 125.

Mantrayāna, its antiquity, xvii.

Māṇuṣī Buddha, see Māṇuṣī Buddhas.

Māṇuṣī, four, 154n.; under the seat of Vajraśana, 11; trampled by Vidyujjvalakārāli, 82; by Prasannatāra, etc., 102.

Māṇuṣī, the process described, 170.

Māṇi, the chief emanation of Vairocana, 4, 93ff.; her concomitance with the Sun-god, 93; worshipped in Tibet, 93; general remarks about her form, 94; her Mānīs given by Śāntideva, 91; described, 128; character of her images, 97; accompanies Śiśūtāra, 127; distinguished from Vajrarākshī, 93, 105; two different goddesses, 98.

Māṇi, Arjuna, see Arjuna Māṇi.

Māṇi, Aśokakāntā, see Aśokakāntā Māṇi.

Māṇi, Asabhujā, images noticed, 97; illustrated, XXX, ed. XXXI, a; see Asabhujā Māṇi.

Māṇi, Dāsabhujāsita, see Dāsabhujāsita Māṇi.

Māṇi, Udbhayavarāhānā, see Udbhayavarāhānā Māṇi.

Māṇi, Vaiśravānacaritā, see Vaiśravānacaritā Māṇi.

Māṇi, Vaiśravānācariya, variety of Māṇi, 98; special characteristics noted, 99; Dhyāna cited, 98; described, 98.

Māṇi, accompanies Buddhism, 84.

Māṇi, sculptures; images of Māṇi, 98; present in, 15.

Māṇi, Avalokiteśvara, the only fiercer form of Lokākāra, 17f.; Māyājñāna, the source of his Sādhana, 47; Dhyāna cited, 47; described, 17, 177ff.; his image illustrated, XXXII, d.

Māyājñānakrama Lokākāra, described, 179.

Māyājñānakrama Kurukullā, fierce form of Kurukullā, 57, 120ff.; described, 120ff.; extracts from Dhyāna cited, 127n.

“Māyājñāna Tantra,” source of the Sādhana of Māyājñānakrama Avalokiteśvara, 47; of Kurukullā, 120.

Mādā, accompanies Mahāsarasvatī, 151.

Mekaila, one of the six auspicious symbols, 91; see Mañjuśrī.

Mirror carried by Vajrāsana, 22.

Mogajñānavāla (?) Lokākāra, described, 177.

Monasteries, Buddhist; destroyed by Muhammadans, xxii.

Mongoloes characteristic symbol of Jambhala, 114; Uchchusma Jamadhala, 75, 115.

Mortal Buddha, 12, enumerated, 12; tabular statement, 13.

Mortal Buddha, seven, 10; enumerated, 10; standing image of, XII, d; tabular statement, 13.

Mortal Buddha, six, 12; enumerated, 12; tabular statement, 13.

Mother, eight; accompany Vajratāra, 129, 125; enumerated and described, 124ff.

Mother of Six Syllables, name given by Waddel to Sādakṣarī Mahāvīra, 31.

Mouse, vāhana of Garāpta, 142.

Mrityuvañcana Tāru, variety of White Tāru, 136; described, 136.

Mudita, defined, 172.

Mudrās, five; giving rise to five Dhyāni Buddhas, 2; are nothing but Bodhicitta in essence, 106.

Nāgadeśa flower, carried by Mañjuśrī, 11, 14, 40.

Nāgarjuna, In.; regarded as a Bodhisattva, 17, 8; author of Dharmasamgupta, 12, of the Sādhana of Kṣujñā, 80; Pratāpāramitā restored by, 81; Mañjuśrī not mentioned by, 15.

Nārāyanā, significance of the word, 91; another word for Śaiva xvii; a goddess emanating from Akṣobhya, 90ff.; described, 90; Dhyāna cited, 90; distinction between Vajraśrāvāli and, 90; Vajraśvārī and, 150; images illustrated, XXX, a-b; accompanies Buddha as Bhumipāla, 64.

Nandana, source of the image of Yamātri, 73.

Nāmaśaṅgiti, 141; dedication of the Nāmaśaṅgiti literature, 148; not a Buddhist but a Bodhisattva, 148; an Independent god, 148ff.; described, 148; source of his Dhyāna, 149; reasons for thinking him to be a variety of Mañjuśrī, 140; images illustrated, XL, a-b; Nāmaśaṅgiti—Mañjuśrī is different from, 148.

Nāmaśaṅgiti Mañjuśrī, variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an emanation of Akṣobhya, 19, 23ff.; described, 23; Dhyāna cited, 23; illustrated, XIV, a-b; nāmaprāgarudā—reading discussed, 73n.

Nārāyaṇa, meaning of, 42.

Navagrahas (Nine Planets), 99.

Nectale and string, their function as weapons, 99.

Nepal, refuge of Vajrayāni after the Muhammadan conquest of Bengal, xvii;
source of the image of Hālāhala, 40
Padmarāvahana Lokēvara, 44; Heruka, 63, 63; Māyākāmaka Avalokiteśvara, 48; Nilakṣātha, 49; Padmanārteśvara, 43; Raktaka-Lokēvara, 48; Sukhāvatī Lokēvara, 60; Vajradārā, 130; Vasudhāra, 118.

Nepal sculptures, wealth of, xxii.
Nepal Valley, the making of, 16.
Newart Art, its excellence exemplified, 120.
Nose, significance of, 60n.
Nilakṣātha, significance of the name, 48; idea borrowed from the Hindus, 48; variety of Avalokiteśvara, 48ff; described, 48; Dhyāna cited, 48; his image illustrated, XXIII, e; distinction between Vāk and, 49; between Aṃtābha and, 48; agreement between Śiva and, 48.
Nilakṣātha, name of the Hindu God, Śiva, 49; see Śiva.
Nilakṣātha Lokēvara, 170.

Nirvāṇa, controversy regarding the interpretation of, xxvi; its conception from two standpoints, xxvi; its different meanings according to different schools, xxvii; how obtained by a Bodhisattva, xxvii; Āśvaghosa’s conception of, xxvii; passed over by Avalokiteśvara, xxix; see Nirvāṇa.

Nirvāṇa, Anupadhiṣeṣa, 167; see Anupadhiṣeṣa.
Nippanna Tārā, accompanies Aṣṭabhuja Kurukullā, 58.
Niyānātha Lokēvara, described, 188.

O

Oḍīyaṇa, name of a place; its identification, xxvii; two theories, xxvii; Indrabhūti, king of, xxvii; see Orissa.

Oḍīyaṇa Kurukullā, variety of Kurukullā, 55; hero form of Kurukullā, 57; described, 57.

Oḍīyaṇa Lokēvara, see Trilokaya-saṅkara.

Oḍīyaṇa Mārtiṣṭa, leading characteristics, 100; see Vajradārāvāri Mārtiṣṭa.

Oḍita, Mr.; on the Samātha image of Saḍa-kṣata Lokēvara, 34.

Orissa, Oḍīyaṇa to be identified as, xxvii; a seat of Tāntric learning, 48; Kurukullā worshiped in, 57; source of the image of Mārtiṣṭa, 97.

Ornaments, the six auspicious, see Saṃmudrā.

Oṣṭakṣi, accompanies Buddhakapāla, 84.

P

Padma, name of a serpent lord, 56.

Padma-bālaī, accompanies Mahāmāyā, 68.

Padmanārteśvara, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 41ff, 11; his three different varieties, 41; described, 42, 44, 43; Dhyāna cited, 42, 43; his images, 42; illustrated, XXII, d-e; his Mandala described, 43; his companions, 45.

Padmapāla, 142.

Padmapāla, Divre Bodhisattva, 8, 3; duty and character of, 3; illustrated, XI, e; offers Abhiseka to Kurukullā, 56; see Padmapāla Lokēvara and Avalokiteśvara.

Padmapāla Lokēvara, 188.

Padmasambhava, son of Indrabhūti, xxvii.

Padmāvatī, accompanies Padmanārteśvara, 43.

Pahādādā, a chapter in Jānaśaiddhi of Indrabhūti, xxvii; gives the origin and description of the Dhyāni Buddha xxvi.

Pahcarakṣa, name of a Buddhist work, 3n.

Pahcarakṣa, deities, 55, 102, 116; enumerated, 135; merits arising out of their worship, 133; their character, 133.

Pahcarakṣa Maṇḍala, 102, 132ff.

Pahcāśārya in China, the native place of Mahāpuruṣī, 16.

Pahcāśāryaśkaṭṭha, special significance of the term used in connection with Siddhākṣara, 20.

Pāṇḍarā, Divine Buddhāsakti, 7; illustrated, X, d; spiritual mother of Avalokiteśvara, 82.

Pāṇḍavavāṁśi, Sakti of Padmanārteśvara, 43.

Pantheon, Buddhist; its gradual expansion xxviii; evidence of Mahāyāna literature, xxviii; evidence of Chinese travellers, xxv; of Sāntideva, xxv.

Pantheons, frequent interchange of deities in the Buddhist Jains and Hindu, i.

Pāpadeśanā, see Confession of sins.

Pammāṇa, name of Hayagrīva, 54, 147; why comes under the category of Independent deities, 141; cannot be classified in accordance with colour 141; an Independent god, 147ff; described, 147; Dhyāna cited, 147; illustrated, XXXIX, d.

Pāramitā, ten; data for increase in number of deities, 165; ten companions of Vajradārā, the embodiments of, 125.

Pāpaśāvari, 106; her functions, 83; an emanation of Akṣobhya, 83ff; an emanation of Amoghasiddhi, 100ff; why an emanation of two different Dhyāni Buddhas, 83; a variety of Green Tārā, 157; different varieties distinguished, 109; her four-armed form, 84; described, 84, 110; Dhyāna cited, 84ff, 110; her images illustrated, XXXI, d, XXXIV, a.

Pāśa Bhātī, thirty-two according to the Mahāyānists, 10.

Pauṣṭika (vidhi), a Tāntric rite, 69.

Peacock, Vāhana of Aṃtābha, 3; of Vajradārā, 47, 53; its tail, a symbol of Mahāmāyā, 111.

Pāṭha, tentative meaning of the word, 142n.

Photographs illustrated in this book; their source, viii.

Piḍapāṭa Lokēvara, described, 185.

Piśāci, epithet of Pāpaśāvari, 109.

Pitānpāṭa paramitā, a yellow variety of Pratīharmaṇī, 86; described, 86; illustrated, XXVII, c.

Planes, nine, see Navagrahas.

Potapāṭa Lokēvara, described, 178.

Potara, mount; residence of Khasarapana, 37.

Prabhākarākṛti, author of the Sādhana of Čaṇḍarāṇa, 60.
Pradipatārā, accompanies Aṣṭābhujya Kurukkul, 56.

Prajñā, embraces Caturbhujya Heruka, 68: Jambhala, 74: Kṛṣṇayamā, 72: Mahākāla 121; Raktaśayāmā, 70; accompanies Ihlāhāla, 40; Mahāvajrā, 26: Mihraisakras, 30; trampled by Mārćipicuva, 96.

Pratākṣākrama, variety of Arapacana, 28; variety of Mahāśrī, 28.

Prathābhūrā, name of Amoghasiddhi mentioned in his Mantra, 5n.

Pratāntaka, 142.

Pratāparāmāra, 78; defied scripture 84; Sakti of Vajrasāra, xxvii; a parallel of Mahāsūrya, 85; her resemblance to Mahāsūrya, 31; an emanation of Aksobhya, 84ff; of the five Dharmākūta Buddhas, 120; vāsāvātta of, 85, 96; Dhyāna cited, 120n, 121; illustrated, 126, 127; XXXVI, 6; Bara image of Mahāvajra may be identified as, 25n.

Pratibbhāgakūṭa Lokākśara, described, 182.

Pratibhibhāsakūṭā Lokākśara, 50; source of his Nātha, 50; described, 50, 178ff; Dhyāna cited, 50, 121; illustrated, XXIV, 6.

Prāti, trampled by Paramāśva, 148.

Pratypressadāsa accompanied Buddhakapāla, 64.

Pratypsaraṃgānā, the process described, 170.

Pupala Lokākśara, described, 180.

Prurandara, see Indra.

Purushottha, Lokākśara accompanies Jambhala, 114.

Puruṣāmāna, a Tamilic writer; his time, 77n.

Puruṣita, Vajrakīrti's function as s. 6.

Puspa accompanied Lokanātha, 38, see Puspatārā.

Puspatārā accompanies Vajratārā, 124.

Rāhu, 97; under the seal of Tārādibhava Kurukkul, 96.

Rajendraśa Mātra Rāja; quoted, xxvii.

Rajahāli, images of Mātrici filching from, 97.

Rakta Lokākśara, name why given, 48; a variety of Aṣṭākīkāveśa, 48; described, 49, 47; Dhyāna cited, 40, illustrated, XXXIV, 6; distinction between Vajradharma and.

Raktaśayāmā, 60; variety of Yamā, 70ff; described, 70; Dhyāna cited, 70; trampled by Prajñā, 70.

Rasa, data for increase in number of deities, 165.

Rati, trampled by Paramāśva, 148.

Ratna, one of the six auspicious symbols, see Bṛhadāḍāra.

Ratnakalīṇī, accompanies Mahāmāyā, 68.

Ratnakalikā, Lokākśara described, 180.

Ratnadhara, Mortal Bodhisattva, 12.

Ratnakhyā; name given to Ratnasambhava in his Dhyāna, 50.

Ratnapāṇi, Divine Bodhisattva, 8; illustrated, XI, 6.

Ratnasambhava, Dharmākūta Buddha, 2, 5; a late incorporation into the Pantheon, 113; excluded from the group of five Dharmākūta Buddhas, 190; described, 5; Dhyāna cited, 5n; his emanations, 113ff, 110ff; source of his stone image, 4n; illustrated, VII, 1n, 190; on the crown of Aparajitā, 38; of Jambhala, 114; of Vasudhāra, 118; appears in the image of Arapacana, 28.

Red Tārā, 140.

Roses carried by the Mahākāla image of Śīlamānā, 36.

Rucāka, one of the six auspicious symbols, see Śrāvaṇa.

Rudra, disgraced by Praśana Tārā, 139.

Rūṣipī accompanied Buddhakapāla, 64; Vajrāvāraśī, 104.

S

Sadākṣari Group; Dhyāna cited, 33, 35n; described, 34, 35: Binbhum image described and identified, 148ff; Magadha image, 31; Orent wrongly identifies as Buddhā, Druma and Sānta, 34.

Sadākṣari Lokākśara, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 30ff; varieties described, 33; s. described, 178; Dhyāna cited, 33; his Mantra and the significance of his name, 34; images illustrated, XVIII, a-b-c, XIX, a.

Sadākṣari Mahāvidyā, accompanies Sadākṣari Lokākśara, 33; described, 34; Dhyāna cited, 34n; Virāsana prescribed only for, 34; see image illustrated, XIX, b.

Sadākṣari Maṇḍala; guardian of the gates of.

Sadbhūja Sitalārā, variety of White Tārā, 137, 108; described, 108; Dhyāna cited, 108; illustrated, XXXIII, b.

Śādana, meaning of the word, iv; contents, iv; see App. A; language of, ivn; antiquity, 159; its composers, 156; authors enumerated, v.

Śādhana, Kṣīṭā-lītā, text and translation, 190ff.

Śādhanaśāstā, most important work for the understanding of Buddhist Iconography, ii; its extent, 159; contents, ii; extent of Mātrica material, iii; date of MSS. discussed, iii, liii.

Śādhanaśānāvāca, another name of the Śādhanamālā, iii.

Śādyābhaṇḍa Lokākśara, see Ārapacana.

Śādyābhāva Mahāśrī see Arapacana.

Śāgaramati Lokākśara, described, 182.

Śāhajāyana; Lakṣāmpikārī, founder of, 57.

Śain, Rai Baladur D. R.; on the image of Ucheṇūma Jambhala, 115.

Śakamangala, Mortal Bodhisattva, 12.

Śakti, of Mahāśrī, 17; Hālāhala, 41; represented on the image of Śthīraśaka, 30; of Vajrakīrti, 6; embraces Cappadocia, 61; see Prajñā.

Śaṅkṣyasuddha Lokākśara, described, 181, 187.

Śākyāčāraudha, Mortal Buddha, 10, 2, 32; his disciple Ananda, 12; his wife Yasodhara, 12.
Samanthabhadra, Divine Bodhisattva, 8; illustrated, XI, b; variation in his images, 8; accompanies Lokanath, 38.
Samanthabhadra Lokasvāra, described, 183.
Samākṣipta Māriči, see Asāthāhuja Māriči and Māričipucuyā.
Samvatsara, 60, 65; a variety of Vajrākāśa, 64, 65; described, 65; Dhyāna cited, 63; his Sakti Vajrāvārāhī, 65.
Sāṅgha, 34; a member of the Holy Triad, xx; described, xxv; illustrated, III; the term Bodhisattva synonymous with, 8.
Sāṅgharatana, epithet of Avalokiteśvara, 32.
Sāṅkhumudra trampled by Jambhala, 119.
Sāṅkhunātha, described, 188.
Sāṅkhapāla, name of a serpent lord, 50.
Sāṅku temple of Vajrayogini, 150ff.
Sāṇmudrā, six auspicious symbols or ornaments, explained by quotation from the text, 47ff; prescribed for Sāṁkṣekara, 60; Vajrāvārāhī, 104; Vidyujñākāśa, 82; group of five Mudrās enumerated, 91; five Mudrās prescribed for Nairātā, 61; Vajracakrā, 80.
Sāṇmatāti Lokasvāra, described, 187.
Sāṇtāti Lokasvāra, described, 181.
Sāṇtideva, 15; his date discussed, xxv, xxvii; his evidence regarding the Buddhist Pantheon, xxv; Dhāraṇī of Māriči given by, 94.
Sāṇtikavīḍī, a Tāntric rite, 60.
Sāṁkṣekara, significance of the name, 65; a variety of Vajrākāśa, 64, 65; described, 65ff; Dhyāna cited, 60; embraced by Vajrāvārāhī, 65; his Prajñā described, 67; his Mandala described, 60n; his companions described, 60.
Sāṁkṣekakā Hayagrīva, 50ff; an emanation of Amitābha, 50ff; described, 54; Dhyāna cited, 54; see Hayagrīva.
Sāṁkṣekakā Kalpa, name of a Tāntric work, 54.
Sāṁpadhāpa, author of the Sādhana of Tāriyakavasānakam, 45.
Sāmrari (? ) Lokasvāra, described, 180.
Samaśa, her antiquity, 150; a river defiled, 150; popularity of her worship, 150; her function, 150; her insignia, 150; image of Jambhala wrongly identified by Vincent A. Smith as, 150n; accompanies Jambhala as a minor goddess, 114.
Samaśavatāhāna, 15.
Sarnath Museum; contains the earliest image of Lokanath, 40; image of Māriči, 97; Nārāyaṇa, 49; Sādakṣari Lokasvāra, 34; Sādakṣari Mahāvidyā, 35; Sādhaikavīra, 20.
Sārthavāha Lokasvāra, described, 186.
Sārthākavīrākāśa, epithet of Vajrasattva, 109.
Sārvajñavārapānasaṃbhavi Lokasvāra, described, 182.
Sārvavakatamonirghata Lokasvāra, described, 182.
Sārvavatavara, author of the Sādhana of Mahāchētalā, 77.
Seasons, represented by the Dhyāni Buddhhas, 7A.
Senses, five; probable origin of the five Dhyāni Buddhhas, 1.
Serpent; its presence in the stone images of Amoghasiddhi, 5; appears in the image of Haribharibharivahana, 45; two serpents accompany Nilakantha, 48; the names and functions of the eight lords of serpents, 50.
Siddhayāvāra, variety of Maṇjuśrī, 17; an emanation of Akṣobhya, 10; described, 20ff; Dhyāna cited, 21; his similarity with Arapacana, 21; distinction between Lokanath and, 21; illustrated, XI, 11, 4; his Mandala, 21; his companions enumerated and described, 21n.
Siddhayāva, desa, eighty-four; Saraha one of the, 45.
Siddhahāra, Pragāti, 40n.
Sikhī, Mortal Buddha, 10.
Sikhiṇīśā, Mortal Buddhāsākti, 12.
Sūkṣmamūrčya, a work of Sāntideva, xxv.
Sūkhāmāṇora, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 35ff.
Sūkhāmarā, variety of Avalokiteśvara, 35ff, 42; his functions, 35; described, 36; Dhyāna cited, 30; his image illustrated, X, c-c–c, XX, a-b; distinction between Maṇjuśrī and, 30; Maṇjuśrī wrongly identified as, 25n.
Sūkhāmāṇora, Lokasvāra, described, 179.
Sūrya tave, special tree of Mahāmuni-narāśāni, 134.
Sūryāta (? ) Lokasvāra, described, 186.
Sūryāta, Hindu goddess of small-prox, 110.
Sūrya-prajñāpāramitā, white variety of Prajñāpāramitā, 85; described, 85; Dhyāna cited, 85.
"Sūtare pura,": meaning of the word, 102.
Sūtāparājita, emanation of Vairocana, 101ff; described, 102; Dhyāna cited, 101; Nepalese drawing illustrated, XXXX, i.
Sūtātāra, emanation of the five Dhyāni Buddhhas, 127ff; Dhyāna cited, 127; described, 128; distinction between Khaḍgarānvi and, 127.
Sūtātāra, Caturbhuja, see Caturbhuja Sūtātāra.
Sūtātāra, Saṣādhvaj, see Saṣādhvaj Sūtātāra.
Sūvāla trampled by Vajrākāśa, 90; by Ubbhayavarahānana Māriči, 90; counted as a Māra, 154n; disgraced by Buddhist gods, 162.
Skandhas, probable origin of the five Dhyāni Buddhhas; 2; represented by the five Dhyāni Buddhhas, 7A, 119; data for the increase in number of deities, 165.
Smile, pleasant; indication of Arāhanavarī as emanation of Akṣobhya, 1110.
Śniti accompanies Mahāmuni, 151.
Śri, trampled by Paramāṇa, 117.
Śrīmāṇḍāśrayavakotēvāra, described, 188.
Śrīva, accompanies Vasudhāra, 90.
Śrīvatsa, accompanies Vasudhāra, 90.
Śrīhākula (claus), special symbol of Vajrapāṇi, 111.
Śrīśikantā Lokasvāra, described, 183.
Śrīva, variety of Maṇjuśrī, 17; independent god, 20ff; peculiarity of the Siddha devoted to, 20; described, 20,
Symbols, the six auspicious, see Saṃuddrā.

T

Tabular statement showing the relation between Dhyāni Buddhas, their Buddhasāktis and Buddhasattvas, 9; Mental Buddhas their Buddhasāktis and Buddhasattvas, 13; the attributes of the Dhyāni Buddhas, 7A.

Takṣaka, name of a serpent lord, 58; Vāhana of Māyaśālaśrama Kurukullā, 127.

Tantra, meaning of, xvii; Asanga initiated in the mysteries of, 13; introduced by Asanga into Mahāyāna, xviii.

Tantratārā; the Dhyāna of Hindu Tārā cited from, 77.

Tantrayāna did not exert much influence before the time of Dhrimankriti, xxxvi.

Tārā, deities, how represented in art, xviii ff.

Tārā, significance of the name, 100; loose application of the term, 155; definition of, 155.

Tārās, Ordinary, 135 ff; Extraordinary, 136; fi; Their classification, according to colour, 135 ff; Green, see Green Tārā; Red, see Red Tārā; White, see White Tārā; Yellow, see Yellow Tārā.

Tārā Buddhist; as a minor goddess, 37 ff; accompanies Khaṣāpana, 36; Lokanātha, 38, 39; Mañjuśrī Kurukullā, 56; Padmapani, 42, 43; Tārā, Hindu; a purely Buddhist goddess wholly incorporated into the Hindu Pārameśvara, 78; prototype of Mahākāla, 78; significance of the corpus on which she stands, 78; see also Mahākāla.

Tārā Mantra, its dedication, 109; example, 107.

Tārānāth, his evidence regarding Tantric learning, xxvi.

Tārārahaṇa, Dhyāna of Mahākāla, to be found in, 77.

Tārādāvānā, variety of Kurukullā, 56; described, 56.

Tārā Mudrā, exhibited by Nāmasaṅgiti, 149.

Tātacūrya, represented by the Dhyāni Buddhās, 7A.

Tathāgatas, 23; Aksobhya the earliest Tathāgata, 60, 1; Mañjuśrī made of the particles of, 27; are cited as witnesses by Harharivarvāhana, 44.

Tattvānditāmyai, a work of Pūrṇānanda, 77.

Thunderbolt; the seat of Vajrāsana stamped with a 111.

Tibet; Ekajataśādhana restored by Nāgāruṇa from, 80.

Tiger, Vāhana of Vādīrā, 30.

Trailokyākṣara, Yab-yum variety of Ileruka, 63; described, 63.

Trailokyāvajñāna, a variety of Avalokiteśvara, 45 ff; described, 45; Dhyāna cited, 45.

Trailokyayājñā, an Independent god, 140 ff; described, 140; Dhyāna cited, 140; his images noticed, 148; Illustrated, XXXIX, c.
Trilokya-vijaya Mudrá, exhibited by Aṣṭabhujya Kurukullā, 58; Māyājālakrama Kurukullā, 127.

Trick, Buddhist: Holy; how represented in human form, xxx; fate of persons irreverential to, 122.

Trisūla, recognition symbol of Jībhūti, 59.

Trilokasandarānā Lokesvara, described, 179.

Tripattāka, defined, 147.

Trisaramanana, the process described, 170.

Trissā (three tufts of hair) on the head of Daśabhujasita Mārici, 98.

Trīṣūla entwined by a snake; recognition symbol of Śimhaśāna, 35, 36.

Tūpā Śrīvaṇa, Maitreya passes the life of a Bodhisattva in the, 13.

U

Ubbhavarahānā Mārici, variety of Mārici, 99; significance of the name, 99; described, 99.

Uchhusma Jambhala, 60; variety of Jambhala, 74ff; his different forms, 115; emanation of Ratnasambhava, 115; described, 78, 115; Dhyāna cited, 74; his stone image described and identified, 115; illustrated XXXV, a, XXVI d; significance of the image of Amitābha on the crown of the Samāth figure, 115.

Udayāna, see Udayāna.

Udayāna, image of Maitreya in, 13.

Ugratāra, name of Mahācānḍarā; incorporated by the Hindus, 76; her image in the Śāktī temple, 157.

Universe, Buddhist; described, xxv; Śūpā, the symbol of, 3.

Upakasāṇi, accompanies Arapacana, 28; Mañjuvāra, 26; Mañjuśrī, 17; Siddhākṣara, 21.

Upāśa, trampled by Māriciśupūrva, 80.

Upēkṣā, trampled by Prasannātāra, 139.

Upaslaśāyā, 107; emanation of Vairocana, 100ff; described, 101; Dhyāna cited, 100; popularity of her images, 100; illustrated, XXXI, c-d; accompanies Vajratāra as a minor goddess, 123.

Utpalla (2) Lokesvara, described, 180.

Utpala Mudrā, exhibited by Sītātāra, 128.

U Vahāl, source of the bronze images of the Divine Bodhisattvas, 9.

V

Vadāli, accompanies Aṣṭabhujya Mārici, 97, 94.

Vādula, a variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; an independent god, 30ff; described, 30ff; Dhyāna cited, 30.

Vāgīvāra, 43; a variety of Mañjuśrī, 17; emanation of the five Dhyāni Buddhas, 24ff; his popularity, 24; described, 24; Dhyāna cited, 24; his Mantra, 20n; illustrated, XIV, d, XVI, a.

Vaiśāhaka, consisting of Hon. Garuda and Viṣṇu, 44; of Dhyāni Buddhas, 3n, 7A.

Vairocana, Dhyāni Buddha, 2, 4, 1n; his antiquity, 4; described, 4f; Dhyāna cited 5n; represented on the Śūpā, 5, 4; illustrated, VII, d, VIII, a; his emanations, 20ff; his image on the crown of Aṣṭabhujya Mārici 98; Daśabhujasita Mārici, 98; MahāĀbaśarapramardanī, 102; Uṣṇīṣvajyā, 100, 101; Vajra-dhātuvāri Mārici, 100; appears in the image of Arapacana, 28.

Vaiśravanas, four, 10.

Vaiśravas, accompanies Jambhala, 114.

Vaidra, meaning of the word in Vaiśravanas, 2n, xvii, xviii; the seat of Vaiśravanas, 11.

Vajrabhairava, trampled by Mahākāla, 122.

Vajrabhairavi, accompanies Saptākara, 86.

Vajrabhairavāri, accompanies Saptākara, 86.

Vajracarikā, an emanation of Akṣobhya, 86; described, 86f; Dhyāna cited, 86; illustrated, XXVII, d.

Vajradākā, yab-yum variety of Heruka, 64ff; varieties of, 64.

Vajraśākini, accompanies Mahāmāya, 68; Saptākara, 86.

Vajradha, name of Ādi Buddha; varieties of his forms described, xxviii.

Vajradhāma, see Vajradhāma Lokesvara.

Vajradhāna, name of Avalokiteśvara, 33; described, 51, 150; Dhyāna cited, 51; his special features, 51; illustrated, XXIV, e; distinction between Raktā-Lokesvara and, 47.

Vajradhātu Lokesvara, described, 187.

Vajradhātvāvari, Divine Buddhasakti, 7; illustrated, X, a.

Vajradhātvāvari Mārici, a variety of Mārici, 99; described, 99ff; her leading characteristics, 100; accompanies Aṣṭabhujya Kurukullā as a minor goddess, 58; also called Vajra-veṇatā.

Vajradhāra, epithet of Akṣobhya, 4n.

Vajraśāndhāri, consort of Canda-vajrapāni, 155; why not an emanation of Amogha-siddhi, 154; an independent goddess, 164ff; described, 155ff; Dhyāna cited 154; accompanies Aṣṭabhujya Kurukullā as a minor goddess, 154, 155.

Vajragarbha Lokesvara, described, 182.

Vajragaṅgha, gate-keeper of the Lokanātha Mandala, 35; accompanies Vajraśāndhāri, 125.

Vajraghoṇa, epithet of Vaiśravāṇī, 103; its meaning, 103n.

Vajrakīrtikā, why so called, 143; an independent god, 143f; described, 144; Dhyāna cited, 144; distinction between Vajradhāra and, 144.

Vajravantikā Lokesvara, described, 181.

Vajravāntikā, an independent god, 145ff; described, 145ff; Dhyāna cited, 145.

Vajrakāṇḍa Lokesvara, described, 184.

Vajrakāṇḍa, 21ff; varieties of Mañjuśrī, 17; an emanation of Akṣobhya 19; worshiped in the rite of Vaiśīkha-pa, 21; his varieties, 22, 22n; described, 22; Dhyāna cited, 22; illustrated, XIV, c; distinction between Madana and, 22.

Vajrānātha Lokesvara, described, 188.

Vajraśāndhā, gate-keeper of the Lokanātha Mandala, 35; accompanies Vajraśāndhāri, 124.

Vajrapāni, Divine Buddhasakti, 8; distinction between Ghaṇṭāpāni and, 9; his similarly to Vajrasattva, 6; variation noticed in his images, 9; accompanies Lokanātha, 38, 40; illustrated, XI, c.
Vajrapāṇi Lokēśvara, described, 188.
Vajrapāṇi, gate-keeper of the Lokanātha Magdāla; 39; accompanies Vajrānātha, 125.
Vajrārāgo, see Vāk.
Vajrarañjī, accompanies Saptākṣara, 98.
Vajrānātha, Buddha in, 1; his seat stamped with a thunderbolt, 11; four Mānas under the seat of, 11; described, 11; Dhyāna cited, 11; illustrated, XIX, a.
Vajrakāśā, a variety of Sarasvatī, 151; described, 151f.; illustrated, XIX, d-e.
Vajrasarasvatī, variety of Sarasvatī, 152; described, 152; illustrated, XIX, b.
Vajrasattva, 1; meaning of the word, 2n; Dhyāna Buddha, 1.2.6; an embodiment of five Mahāyāna; 2; latest Buddha to enter Buddhist Pantheon, 130; sometimes bears the effigy of Akṣobhya, 6; agreement between Vajrapāṇi and, 6; described, 6; Dhyāna cited, 6n; parental Buddha of Jambhala, 114; of Cunda, 130; his stone image illustrated, IX, b; his yah-yum figure illustrated, IX, c-d; his secret worship, 6.
Vajravajravaiḍhātu Lokāroka, described, 187.
Vajravajravaiḍhātu, Divine Buddhalakṣaṇī, 7.
Vajravajrā, gate-keeper of the Lokanātha Magdāla, 39; accompanies Vajrānātha, 125.
Vajrāgīghatā, an emaciation of Amoghasiddhi, 111f.; described, 112; Dhyāna cited, 112; illustrated, XXXIV, b.
Vajraśāstrī Lokēśvara, described, 186.
Vajrāsana, 1.
Vajraśāstra, variety of, 129; emaciation of the five Dhyāna Buddhas, 129f.; of four Dhyāna Buddhas, 129; variety of Yellow Tara, 138; described, 123f.; Dhyāna cited, 123; letters of her Mantra detached, 123, 129; efficacy of her Mantra, 123; images noticed, 129, 130, 132; illustrated, XXXVI, d, b, XXXVII, a; her Magdāla described, 121f.
Vajravaiḍhātu, another name of Vajrānātha, 103; accompanies Vajravaiḍhātu, 155; described, 156.
Vajravaiḍhātu, emaciation of Vajravaiḍhātu, 103f. 42, 43; varieties noticed, 103; described, 65, 101; Dhyāna cited, 101; illustrated, XXXII, a- b; her images show adoration, 59f.; distinguished from Vajrānātha, 94f.; from Nairātāja, 92; from Vajravaiḍhātu, 156; Sakta of Sarasvatī, 65; of Saptākṣara, 65; Vajravaiḍhātu, 81; see Aravajravaiḍhātu, Buddha-dākini and Nairātāja.
Vajravaiḍhātu Tattva, treats of the union of Vajravaiḍhātu and Sarasvatī, 94.
Vajravaiḍhāturi, accompanies Vajravaiḍhātu, 155; described, 156.
Vajravaiḍhātu, see Vajrāhātivrāivī Mārītī.
Vajravaiḍhātu, an independent goddess, 156; described, 158; Dhyāna cited, 158; illustrated, XLI, c.
Vajravaiḍhātu, a variety of Sarasvatī, 151; described, 151.
Vajrānātha; the word first met with in the work of Indra in xxvi; why so called, xvii; a degenerated, but attractive form of religion, xviii; its rise, xi; form of Mahāyāna when Mahāyāna is introduced into Vaijñavavāda, xii; Dhyāna Buddha's first introduced in, xxvii; its development after the time of Indrāhṛti, 156; origin and nature of cults in, xxvii; easy methods devised for the followers of, xxvii.
Vajravaiḍhātu, a variety of Vajrānātha; 156, 92; interpreted by the Hindus in the form of Chinnamasta, 153.
Vajravaiḍhāturi temple in Nepal, contains an image of Vignātāra, 76.
Vajravaiḍhātu Lokāroka, described, 181.
Vāk, variety of Mahājñāna, 17; emaciation of Anuḍhāna, 17; described, 18; Dhyāna cited, 18; illustrated, XIX, c; distinction between Anuḍhāna and, 18.
Vānīśya Sādhya Pratisa; source of the image of High-nātaka, 113; of Nairātāja, 92; Śhironakara, 30.
Vārada Tārā, variety of Green Tārā, 130.
Vārādāyaka Lokāroka, described, 178.
Vārāhāmihira, 91; accompanies Aśtabhuja Mārītī, 97.
Varātī, accompanies Aśtabhuja Mārītī, 97.
Vartī, accompanies Aśtabhuja Mārītī, 97.
Vasanta, trampled by Paramasva, 118.
Vāsikāraṇa, name of a Tārārite, 55; Kurukulikā, worshipped in, 55; Vaijñavavāda, 21.
Vāsudhāra, 76; consort of Jambhala, 89; 117; discrepancy regarding her parental Buddha, 89; more than her spiritual father, 113; emaciation of Akṣobhya, 89f.; emaciation of Ratnasambhava, 117; has assigned to Ratnasambhava, 113; described, 117f.; Dhyāna cited, 90; illustrated, XXXV, d; accompanies Vaijñavavāda Jambhala in yah-yum, 111, 130; erroneously identified by Ghotyu as Bhūkuti, 50.
Vasuki, name of a serpent lord, 50; poison issued out by, 18.
Vasumati, accompanies Vaijñavavāda, 90.
Vasūrī, accompanies Vaijñavavāda, 90.
Vasiṣṭha, accompanies Vaijñavavāda, 90.
Vijñāna, emaciation of Amoghasiddhi, 107; a variety of Green Tārā, 130; described, 107; illustrated, XXXII, a; see Bhandārānā Tārā; distinction between Khadiravant and.
Vaijñavavāda, a variety of Vaijñavavāda, 69.
Vidyāpati Lokēśvara, described, 188.
Vidyājñāvakārā, variety of Ekajñā, 81f.; her legendary origin, 81; described, 82f.; Dhyāna cited, 82.
Vighnāntaka, see Vighnāntaka.
Vighnāntaka, see Vighnāntaka.
Vighnāntaka, how their effulgence attracts divinities, 105; of the Dhyāna Buddha, 7A.
Vaijñavavāda, responsible for introducing Vaijñavavāda into Mahāyāna, 64.
Vikāraṇa, different meanings of the word, 47n.
Vikrampur, in the District of Dacca in Bengali; source of the images of Khasarpāṇa, 38; Jambhala, 114; Parṇāṣaṃvati, 110.
Vilokin, accompanies Padmanārthaśāvāra, 43.
Vinā, etc., offer Abhiseka to Kurukullā, 56.
Vipāṣyanti, Mortal Buddhaśakti, 12.
Vipāṣyin, Mortal Buddha, 10.
Vīrāsaṇa, rare in Buddhist iconography, 35; prescribed for Sadakṣarı Mahāvidyā, 35; exhibited by Nāgakṣarı Mahāvidyā, 34.
Visahari, Hindu goddess akin to Jāgūli, 80.
Visarajana, the process described, 171.
Viskambhis, accompanies Lokanātha, 38, 40.
Visgu, trampled by Dāhabhujadā Mārtci, 98; Vahana of Harisharit arivāhāna, 44; trampled by Udbhayavārahānās Mārtci, 98; Vajrayāvānānākāra, 146.
Visvapakṣa Lokéśvara, described, 187.
Visvukānta Lokēśvara, described, 188.
Visvānapāni Lokēśvara, described, 186.
Visvabhūva, Mortal Buddha, 10.
Visvabhūtā Lokēśvara, 187.
Visvadākini, accompanies Mahāmāya, 68.
Visvadākini, Mortal Buddhaśakti, 12.
Visvabhūva Lokēśvara, described, 181.
Visvavāmāta, variety of White Tārā, 137.
Visvapadmā, accompanies Padmanārthaśāvāra, 43.
Visvapadmā, accompanies Padmanārthaśāvāra, 13.
Visvapāṇi, Divine Bodhisattva, 8; illustrated, XI, 1.
Visvāvajra, symbol of Amoghasiddhi, 5; on the head of Savarāṇa, 63; Sāptākēra, 69.
Visvāvajra, accompanies Padmanārthaśāvāra, 43.
Visvāvajra Lokēśvara, described, 187.
Vidya, see Nūnya.
Vṛṣṭacana Lokēśvara, described, 180.

W

Waddel, L. A., on the Magadha image of the Sadakṣari Group, 34; criticized, 34.
Weapons, are nothing but manifestations of Bodhicitta, 166.
White Tārā, Ordinary; enumerated with characteristic features of each, 136; Extraordinary; enumerated with leading features of each, 137.
Worship, difference between Hindu and Buddhist forms of, v; merits arising out of, 175. Worship, his duties, enumerated, 169.

Y

Yab-yum, meaning of the Tibetan word, 163; conception is of complicated nature, 168ff.; 'Advaya,' an advanced stage of, 104n; character of yab-yum representations, 61; spiritual significance, 168ff.; ideal of a bright and definite spiritual prospect, 101, see Oogomacy.
Yakṣas, trampled by Mahākāla, 133.
Yama, Tibetans oppressed by, 70; legendary story of his origin, 70.
Yamādūt, accompanies Mahākāla, described, 121.
Yamāni, see Yamāri.
Yamāri, 142; story of his legendary origin, 69; an emanation of Aksobhya, 69; his forms vary according to different rites, 69; cononexion of Mahājūri to, 70; accompanies Mahājūri as a minor god, 19, 20, 30n; Mahājūri, 17; Mahājūri, 23; the Sakhi of Shiracakra identified as, 30n; see Kṛṣṇayamāri and Raktayamāri.
Yantra, of Divine Buddhaśakti, 7.
Yānedharā, Mortal Buddhaśakti, 12; wife of Sākṣayamāri, 12.
Yellow Tārā, enumerated with leading characteristics of each, 138.
Yoginī, epithet of Vajraśāmārāṇi, 155.
Yun-gar, story of his attack on the monastery of Vajravārāṇi, 163.