Contents

A Note on Method and Chronology ix
Acknowledgements x
Introduction xi

CHAPTERS
i The City as a Physical Entity 1
ii The City as a Mosaic—Ethnicity and Occupations in Calcutta 33
iii Fortune-makers and Family-founders 62
iv The City as a Centre of Social Change and Continuity 86
v Daily Life in Old Calcutta 109

APPENDICES
i The Muhammadan Bazar in Bombay 133
ii The Port and the Mart in Calcutta 136
iii Estates of Some Opulent Families of Calcutta 140
iv Structural Pattern of Buildings in Old Calcutta 160
v Some Representative Bengali Neighbourhoods 163
vi Some Predominantly Muslim Areas 178
vii A Peddling Community—the Armenians 182
viii The Mughal Community in Calcutta 192
ix Eurasians as an Ethnic Group in Calcutta—Some Judicial Documents 198
x Some Materials on the Local History of Sutanuti—Papers Mainly Relating to the Sobhabazar Raj Family 201
xi The Hindu Joint Family as a House of Cards—Nemaicharan Mallik’s Will Case 210
xii An Imperial Firman for a Calcutta Banker Family 215
xiii Dwarakanath Tagore’s Political Views—An Interpretation of Collaboration 216
xiv Obsequies and Marriages in Old Calcutta 219
xv The Dharma Sabha—A Critical View 228
xvi The European Penetration into the Economy of Calcutta 233
Contents

xvii Voluntary Associations in Calcutta and the Immediate Suburbs 235
xviii "Julius Caesar" in Calcutta 239

POSTSCRIPTS

i Some Calcutta Neighbourhoods 241
ii Linguistic and Regional Groups in Calcutta—The Phenomenon of Regionalism in Urban Setting 249

List of Illustrations

Some types of palanquins in the late 18th century Calcutta
Hughli Valley in the 18th century xx
Map of Calcutta (I) 1850 10
Map of Calcutta (II) 1850 12
Map of Calcutta (III) 1750 - 1850 14
A Section of European town in Calcutta 21
A Section of Indian town in Calcutta 22
A Section of Indian town: the residences of the Debs 23
House types in the Indian and European town in the late 18th and the early 19th century 24 - 25
Different nations in Calcutta 48
A mixed area bordering on the European town 49
Varieties of people and activity on the borderline between the European and the intermediate town 50
A street in the Burrahazar area 56
Courtyards in old Sobhabazar family residence 77
A courtyard in the Tagore house (senior branch) 78
A slum near the back entrance of the Sobhabazar family house 78