CONTENTS

Acknowledgements vii-viii
Introduction 1-8
Chapter I — Partition and Bengal 9-30
  I. The Development of the Partition Plan 9
  II. Bengal on the Eve of the Swadeshi Uprising 20
Chapter II — Trends in Bengal’s Swadeshi Movement 31-91
  I. The Moderate Tradition 35
  II. The Gospel of Atmasakti—Constructive Swadeshi 47
  III. Political Extremism—The Passive Resistance Technique 63
  IV. The Shift to Terrorism 75
Chapter III — Swadeshi Enterprise and Boycott 92-148
  I. The Genesis and Ideology of Economic Swadeshi 92
  II. Swadeshi Enterprise 108
  III. The Impact of the Boycott 137
Chapter IV — National Education 149-81
  I. Origins 149
  II. National Education in Calcutta 164
  III. National Schools in the Districts 175
Chapter V — Labour Unrest and Trade Unions 182-251
  I. Sources 182
  II. Labour Conditions and Bhadralok Attitudes 184
  III. Strikes and Unions in Bengal, 1905-8 199
  IV. Political Implications 242
Chapter VI — Techniques of Mass Contact 252-335
  I. The Press and the Platform 254
Chapter VII — Swadeshi Organisation—Associations and Samitis
   I. Organisational Types 336
   II. Samitis in Calcutta 361
   III. Samitis in West Bengal, Bihar and Orissa 370
   IV. Samitis in Eastern Bengal and Assam 376

Chapter VIII — Hindu-Muslim Relations 405-64
   I. Hindus and Muslims in Bengal 405
   II. The Muslims and the Swadeshi Movement 418
   III. The Riots of 1906-7 444

Chapter IX — Early Revolutionary Terrorism 465-92
   I. Sources 465
   II. First Revolutionary Groups 468
   III. The Inner life of the Secret Societies 483

Chapter X — Conclusion 493-516
   Chronological Table 517-24
   Bibliography 525-40
   I. Private Papers 525
   II. Official Records and Publications 526
   III. Newspapers and Periodicals 527
   IV. Pamphlets 528
   V. Contemporary or Near-Contemporary Speeches, Articles and Literature 531
   VI. Memoirs, Biographies, General Works 533
   Index 541-52