CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION ........................................... 1
Tragedy and democracy—the relativity of ideas—Morgan on primitive Greek society—comparative anthropology—evolutionism and diffusionism—historical linguistics—prospects of classical research.

PART ONE

TRIBAL SOCIETY

I. TOTEMISM .............................................. 11
Economic classification of modern tribes—Australian totemism—the increase ceremony—the totemic taboo—mimetic magic—descent from the totem—segmentation of the primitive horde—appropriation and production—decline of totemism—division of labour—modes of reckoning descent—their economic significance—origin of exogamy—tribal co-operation—totemic ancestor worship—chieftaincy and divinity—nature gods—totemism in Greece—clan emblems—the clan feast—initiation and marriage—the sacred marriage—ritual of the god-king.

II. EXOGAMY ............................................... 23
Primitive Indo-European culture—the classificatory system of relationship—Morgan's theory of group marriage—the Indo-European classificatory system—the Greek phratry—matrilineal descent in prehistoric Greece—Zeus and Hera—Greek terms for brother—co-operation and competition—property in cattle—Jewish law of inheritance—collapse of exogamy—homicide—Erinys.

III. PROPERTY ............................................ 37

PART TWO

FROM TRIBE TO STATE

IV. MONARCHY ........................................... 59
Minoan culture—Greek dialects—pre-Hellenic elements in Greek religion—social organisation of the Achæans—vassalage—rulers and people—Achæan society reflected in Olympus—society and religion—myth and ritual—evolution of epic—Iliad and Odyssey—decline of the monarchy—Hesiod.
CONTENTS

V. ARISTOCRACY

VI. TYRANNY
Meidas and Gyges—the coinage—rise of the merchant class—aristocratic attitude to trade—Solon—the middle class and the mean—Peisistratos—historical function of the tyranny—Theognis and the democratic revolution.

PART THREE

ORIGIN OF DRAMA

VII. INITIATION

VIII. DIONYSUS

IX. ORPHISM

X. DITHYRAMB
First day of the City Dionysia—pompt, agon, kómos—Dionysus as a bull—Arion and the dithyramb—Archilochos—hymn of the Kouretes—god, priest and poet—daughters of Eleuther—pompt and stásimon—Dionysiac passion-play—ritual vestiges in tragedy.

XI. TRAGEDY
Evolution of the third actor—of the second—the Messenger—Xanthos and Melanthos—comic elements in the Bacchants—
PART FOUR

ÆSCHYLUS

XII. DEMOCRACY

Phratry and citizenship—rules of inheritance in Attica, Gortyna and Sparta—status of women at Sparta—in primitive Attica—reorganisation of the Attic tribal system—reform of the calendar—Aristotle on the Attic tribal system—isonomia—Pythagoras—political significance of early Pythagoreanism—relation to Orphism—Calvinism—Pythagorean doctrine of the mean—Alkmaion—Hippokrates—victory of the middle class.

XIII. ATHENS AND PERSIA

XIV. TETRALOGY

Competitions at the City Dionysia—origin of leitourgia—satyr-play—Pickard-Cambridge on Aristotle—ritual obscenity—origin of comedy—Peloponnesian drama—Lenaia—ritual basis of Attic comedy—the trilogy.

XV. ORESTEIA

Life of Æschylus—the surviving plays—House of Atreus—Agamemnon—Choephori—mythical symbolism—Apollo and the Erinyes—purification of Orestes—Eumenides—What is justice?—Apollo and the exegetâl—Erinyes and Semnai—mêtoikoi—Panathenaic procession.

XVI. EARLIER PLAYS

Myth of Io—Danaides—Suppliantes—Why do the Danaides reject the match?—endogamy in Egypt—Æschylus and endogamy—Aristotle on quarrels about heiresses—trial of Hypermnestra—Thesmophoria—discovery of agriculture—Persians—Æschylus and the single tragedy—Seven against Thebes—from clan to state.

XVII. PROMETHEIA

Discovery of fire—Prometheus in Hesiod—mystical allusions—cults of Prometheus—Herakles—Is Prometheus in the wrong?—popular view of the tyrant—Zeus a tyrant—characterisation of Prometheus—wisdom through suffering—origins of civilisation—structure of the Prometheus Bound—Prometheus Unbound—Prometheus the Fire-bearer—Moschion—Kritias—Pythagoras on the social function of religion—Protagoras—Philemon—Diogenes—Shelley
CONTENTS

XVIII. AFTER AESCHYLUS
Evolution of the single tragedy—slave labour—imperialism—contradictions in Athenian democracy—sophrosyne—function of money—money in Greek thought—decay of the chorus—deus ex machina—peripeteia—relation of Sophokles to Eschylus—Elektra—
Oedipus Tyrannus—the thought of Sophokles—Euripides—Ion—Bacchantes—degradation of family life—Medea—destruction of Melos—Trojan Women—idealism and materialism—Moira, Ananke, Tyche—end of Greek tragedy.

XIX. PITY AND FEAR
Aristotle’s Poetics—katharsis—epilepsy—ritual of the Korybantes —primitive theory of possession—possession in the cults of Dionysus—hysteria among primitive peoples—psychological origin of Orphic and Dionysiac cults—religion of hysteria at Eleusis —Ion of Plato—the poet is possessed—the actor—tragedy and the Mysteries—social function of katharsis—of the arts.

APPENDIX I. NOTE ON THE CLASSIFICATORY SYSTEM
APPENDIX II. INDO-EUROPEAN TERMS OF RELATIONSHIP
NOTES AND REFERENCES
BIBLIOGRAPHY
CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE
INDEX

DIAGRAMS

THE CLASSIFICATORY SYSTEM OF RELATIONSHIP
HISTORY OF INITIATION
EVOLUTION OF THE ACTOR
RITUAL PATTERN OF GREEK TRAGEDY
EVOLUTION OF GREEK POETRY

ILLUSTRATIONS

A BACCHANT (from an Attic vase painting)
A SOLDIER WITH EMBLAZONED SHIELD (from an Attic vase painting)
SLAVES DIGGING FOR POTTER’S CLAY (from a Corinthian clay tablet)
DIONYSUS AND SATYRS (from an Attic vase painting)
THE OWL OF ATHENA (from an Attic coin)
MAPS OF GREECE

frontispiece
page 9
57
95
197
end-papers