INDEX.

89; insurgents break into the Chamber of Deputies, 103; tumultuous scenes in, 129; provisional government elected by the insurgents, and installed at the Hôtel de Ville, 131; adhesions to the provisional government, 145; tumultuous confusion in the streets of Paris, 146, 147; a republic proclaimed, 156, 158; and universally received, 257; restoration of order, 259; revival of trade and commerce, 260; England favourable to the, 270; the republic recognized by foreign states, 361, 363; consequences of the, 430; spirit of, exhibited in Austria, Prussia, Hungary, Lombardy, and Italy, 430, 431; list of the members elected to the National Assembly, 477; general review of the, 568.

Revolutionists. See Insurgents.

Revolutions of the human mind, 1; of nations, ibid.

Rhine, army of the, 289.

Rights of Man, Society of the, 51.

Royal family, distress of the, 71; flight of the, 84; uncertainty of their flight, 296; arrival at Dreux, 299; they separate and travel in disguise, 302; pecuniary affairs of, 316.

Russia, policy of, 267; diplomatic relations with, 370.

Sebastiani, Gen., character of, 79.

St. Cyr School, pupils of, 142.

St. Hilaire, energies of, 163.

St. Just, character of, 196.

Sand, Madame, notices of, 347; the supporter of Communism, ibid.

Sanson, Dr., conduct of, 160.

Sardina, conduct of the king of, 432.

Sarr caus, Gen., energies of, 163, 174.

Savigny, M., character of, 413.

Shaw, M. Alton, character of, 413.

Siecle, La, politics and influence of, 12.

Sobrier, M., character of, 411.

Socialism, supported by Louis Blanc and Albert, 345.

Socialists, hopes of the, 164; their doctrines, 191, 252; character of the different schools, 194; vast assemblages of, 253; deputation of, to the government, 254; society of the Rights of Man, 51.

Societies, the revolution promoted by, 11.

See Clubs.

Sorbonne, club of the, 413.

Spain, doubtful conduct of, 286, 307.

Subervie, Gen., appointed minister of war, 139; character of, ibid.; his exertions, 257; president of the committee of national defence, 290; complaints against, 332; his dismissal, ibid.; interview with Lamartine, 333; succeeded by Arago, ibid.

Switzerland, policy and indecision of, 360, 365.

Taxes, territorial, 325, 332.

Terroats, history and description of the, 186; their standard the red flag, 190; their temporary discomfiture, ibid.; their future projects, 199; inducements held out by them to the people, 200; unfavourably regarded by artists, 201; recruited only from the drags of the people, 302; union with the Communists, 262.

Thiers, M., his genius and character, 9, 49; prudent policy of, 15; politics of, 60, summoned by the king, ibid.; appointed prime minister, 62; fruitless proclamation of, 63; conduct after the abdication of the king, 99; his misrepresentations, 426.

Thomas, editor of the National, energies of, 163.

Towns, sounding of the, 56.

Trade and commerce, revival of, 286.

Treasury of France, exhaustion of the, 285; Garnier Pages accepts the office of minister, 297; embarrassment of, 324.

Tricoloured flag, Lamartine's defence of the, 244; contests with the red flag, 294.

Tullerie's sacked and burnt, 89, 147.

Tullenay, M., ambassador to London, 361.

Tuscany, popular exaction in, 286; revolution in, 431.

Vienna, revolution at, 430, 431.

War, preparations for, 271; Lamartine's opinions on the policy of, 272; its probable result, 273, 297; increase of the army in anticipation of, 290.

Wurtemburg, duke of, his flight from Paris, 315.

THE END.
Abdication of Louis Philippe, 73, 77; opposed by Marshal Bugeaud, 69; urged by the duke of Montpensier, 83; proclaimed at the Tuileries and in the Chamber of Deputies, 111. See Louis Philippe.

Africa, army of, 260; recall of the troops from, 289.

Agricultural labour, scheme for, 335.

Albert M., qualities of, 163; conduct of, 190; supports the Socialist doctrines, 345; one of the leaders of the insurgents against the National Assembly, 523.

Algeria, Gen. Cavaignac appointed governor-general, 317.

Alps, army of the, 289.

Ambassador sent to the various courts of Europe, 361–373.

Arago, M. E., conduct of, 98; named a member of the provisional government, 127; his qualities, ibid.; appointed minister of naval affairs, 138; measures of, 179; qualities of, 204; his exertions, 237; his reception by the people, 257; his official activity, 292; appointed minister at war, 331; increases the army, 334; his energetic course of action, 443; regarded as member of the executive commission, 516.

Army, the officers send in their adhesions to the provisional government, 145; disposition of the, 287, 327; great increase of, 289, 334; Lamartine's defence of the, 330; organization of, 442.

Aupick, Gen., sent ambassador to Constantinople, 362.

Austria, policy of, 267; state of, 369; revolution in, 430, 431.

Autun, Communist banquet of, 25.

Bank of France, measures for the salvation of, 329.

Bankruptcy, national, danger of, 294.

Banquets, political, revolutionary tendency of the, 16, 17, 25; one in honour of Lamartine at Mâcon, 19; at Dijon and Châlons, 24; at Autun, 25; opinion of the government on, 26; one proposed on a grand scale at Paris, 30; determination of the government to suppress it, ibid.; military preparations for its suppression, 36; abandoned by the opposition, ibid.

Barbès, liberated from prison through the intervention of his sister, 351; Lamartine's advice to, 338; made colonel, 333; character of, 410; heads a popular conspiracy against the government, 529.

Barricades, raising of, 39, 58; erected by the members of the national workshops, 554.

Barrut, Odilon, political character of, 9, 49; effect of his orations, 25; the government opinion of him, 26; his political sentiments, 27; his preparations for the Paris banquet, 30; brings an act of accusation against the ministry, 38; his efforts to allay the insurrection abortive, 65; appointed prime minister, 71; his conduct after the abdication, 168; his speech on the regency question, 167.

Barthélemy St. Hilaire, appointed secretary of the council, 140; energies of, 163.

Bastide, his conduct, 137, 163; appointed under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, 362; his character, 263.

Bedau, Gen., character of, 79; military conduct of, 80; insulted by the mob, 81; sends in his adhesion to the provisional government, 145; appointed to the command of Paris, 334; death of, 556.

Belgium, revolutionary designs of, 364; scheme for invading, 419.

Belleguic M., ambassador to Belgium, 364.

Berlin, revolution in, 373.

Berreyer, M., political sentiments of, 9.

Bethouart M., appointed minister of commerce, 138; of worship, 517.

Dixio M., energies of, 163; sent as chargé d'affaires at Turin, 365; qualities of, 365; his death, 536.

Blanqui, liberated from prison, 351; an object of suspicion, 354; eccentric habits of, 355; his propositions to the government as delegate of the clubs, 393; dangerous principles of, 414; political plans assigned to, 415; his visit to Lamartine, 416; acts in concert with the insurgents, 435.

Bois-le-Comte, M. de, sent ambassador to Naples, 370.

Boisley, M. de, qualities of, 356.

Bonaparte, Louis, proposal for his temporary exile, 548.

———, Napoleon, genius of, 3.

Bonapartists, numerous faction of the, 546; arrests of, ibid.; Lamartine's speech against, 547.

Boulevards, the crowded resort of the insurgents, 54, 55.

Brea, Gen., death of, 556.

Brougham, Lord, character of, 435.

Buchez, M., appointed to office under the provisional government, 140; energies of, 163.

Bugeaud, Gen., appointed to the military command of Paris, 61; biographical notices of, ibid.; displaced from command, 68; his bravery, 73; conduct of, 78; his distribution of the forces, 79; opposes the abdication of the king, 82.
INDEX.

Bullettin de la République, supporters of the Communists, 347.

Butcher boy, audacity of a, in the Chamber of Deputies, 114.

Cabet, the post of Communism, 356; biographical notices of, ibid.; character of, 409.

Cabriol driver, anecdote of a, 238.

Cambolie, M., editor of La Série, 12.

Capital punishment, Louis Blanc's speech against, 246; decree for abolishing, 346; Carrot appointed minister of public instruction, 139, 517; character of, ibid.; educational measures of, 340; his object misinterpreted, 341.

Causidère, conduct of, 180, 101, 529; qualities of, 346; opinions of, 346; prefect of police, 517; resigns the command of the Montagnards, 530.

Cavaignac, Gen., appointed governor-general of Algeria, 317; biographical notices of, 445; the mother of, 446; nominated minister of war in 1848, his preparations for the defence of Paris, 559, 555, 558; the whole civil authority conferred on, 562.

Châlons, banquet at, 24.

Chamber of Deputies, transactions in the, 36; council of republicans assemble in the, 93; despondency of the members, 99; entrance of the duchess of Orleans, 101; irritation of the insurgents, 103, 110; tumultuous proceedings in the, 113; fresh irritation in the, 122; retirement of the president, 124; Dupont de l'Eure, elected president, 125; a provisional government formed, who retire to the Hôtel de Ville, 129; popular tumult in, 129.

Chambery, disturbances at, 420.

Charapt, M. Berot, appointed envoy to the grand duke of Tuscany, 357.

Changarmer, Gen., his arrangements for defending the government, 459.

Charles X., strictures on the character of, 4.

Chartres, duke de, dangerous situation of the, 124.

Château d'Eau, firing of the, 65.

Chl很多人, courageous conduct of, 169; his volunteers, 401.

Circourt, M. de, sent ambassador to Berlin, 371; qualities of, 379.

Clubes, revolutionary influence of the, 53, 349; those of Paris, 357; procession of the, 390; alarm created thereby, 391; delegates from, received by the government, 392; Lamartine's reply to, 396; dissensions among the delegates, 400; views entertained by the members of the, 403; leaders of the, 407-418; the "Club of Clubs" the centre of democratic agitation, 437; revolutionary conspiracy of the, 529, 536.

Commissioners, government, choice of, 342.

Communism, characteristics of, 52; the supporters of, 354; Lamartine's horror of, 357.

Communists, hopes of the, 164; their union with the Terrorists, 203; conspiracy of, put down by the national guards, 454.

Constitution proposed by Dupont de l'Eure and Lamartine, 472.

Constitutional, politics and influence of the, 11.

Coste, M., courageous conduct of, 174.

Council of chamber, assailed by the mob, 218.

Chantier Français, politics and influence of the, 11.

Courtais, M. de, appointed general of the national guard, 140; character of, ibid.; his preparations for defending the government, 458; arrested, 530.

Crémieux, M., his speech on the regency question, 106; named a member of the provisional government, 127; appointed minister of justice, 138; qualities of, 204.

D'Aumale, duke de, his address to the inhabitants of Algeria, 317.

Danton, character of, 196.

Dead bodies paraded about Paris, 67; great accumulation of, 214.

De Flotte, M., character of, 414.

Delegates appointed by the people, 206.

Departments, agents to the, 442; formation of a garde mobile for, 444.

Deputies, see Chamber of.

Dijon, banquet at, 24.

Dornes, General, death of, 556.

Drevot, the popular delegate, 206.

Duchant, General, notices of, 77.

Duclerc, M., qualities of, 162.

Dumoulin, Colonel, his conduct in the Chamber, 113.

Dunoyer, Captain, leads the republicans in the sacking of the Tuileries, 89; irritation of his column into the Chamber of Deputies, 110, 122.

Dupin, M., notices of, 87; his character and genius, 88; interview with the duchess of Orleans, ibid.; his address to the Chamber of Deputies on the visit of the duchess, 102.

Dupont de l'Eure, elected president of the Chamber, 126; named the head of the provisional government, 127; his qualities, 138; dangers and difficulties of his position, 151; protected by a woman, 151; his reception by the people, 257.

Duverger de Hauranne, writings and influences of, 15; character of, 69; his visit to the regency, 69.

Duvivier, General, sends in his adhesion to the provisional government, 145; his energetic conduct, 291; qualities of, 489; his death, 556.

Education, National, republican scheme of, 334, 339; Carnot's measures on, 340.

Elections for the National Assembly, fixed for the 24th April, 340; Ledru Rollin's circular respecting, 375; Lamartine's opinions on, 379, 390; proclamation on the, 393; its effect, 397; approach of the, 436; difficulty of fixing the period of, 440; Easter-day appointed for, 474; enthusiasm and religious deportment exhibited by the people at the, 474, 476; satisfactory result of the, 476; list of the members returned to the National Assembly, 477.

England, continental policy of, 268; alliance with France, 269; European influence of, 270; favourable to the French revolu-
INDEX

the public banquets, 29; popular dislike to, 41; escapes from the Tuileries, 68; his flight, ibid.

Harcourt, M. d', sent ambassador to Rome, 361.

Hebert, M., his opposition to the public banquets, 29.

Hetzel, M., energies of, 163.

Hôtel de Ville, provisional government established at the, 128, 130, 136; tumultuous scene at, 135; immense assemblages near the, 207; entrance of the mob, 209; selected for defence against the insurgents, 484; occupied by the insurgents, 529; taken by the government forces, 536.

—— of Foreign Affairs, first collision at, 56; slaughter of the people, ibid.

Huber, the conspirator, proclaims the dissolution of the National Assembly, 529.

Hungary, revolution in, 431.

In insurgents of Paris, description of the, 51; different classes of, 52; assemble at the office of the National, 53; organization of the, 64; burn the guardhouses and murder the municipal guard, 81; break into the Chamber of Deputies, 103; tumultuous crowds of, 146; dissatisfied with the new provisional government, 165, 166; menace the government, 171, 172; rush into the Hôtel de Ville, 289; violent language and demands of, 210, 217, 219; efforts of the republicans to appease, 211; their views, 212; they assail the council-chamber, 219; description of their leader, 219; confronted by Lamartine, 221; and hanquashed by him, 224; renewed violence of, 225; formidable preparations of, for overturning the government, 451, 463; they march upon the Hôtel de Ville, 463; kept in check by the national guard, 464; led by Louis Blanc and Albert against the National Assembly, 523; they proclaim the dissolution of the National Assembly, 529; their formidable resistance, 556; suppressed by the national troops, ibid.

Invalides, Hôtel des, discontent in the, 338, 339; attack on the governor, 329.

Irish delegates, reply of the government to the, 427.

Italy, popular excitement in, 296.

Jacqueminot, Gen., commander of the national guard, 40.

Johnville, prince de, in command of the fleet, 179.

Journal des Débats, politics of, 11.

Journals of France, influence and politics of the, 10; Journal des Débats, 11; Le Constitutionnel, ibid.; Le Courrier Français, ibid.; La Presse, ibid.; La Sibérie, 12; La Gazette de France, ibid.; Le National, 13; La Réforme, 14; Le Gaulois Français, 14; La Démocratie Pacifique, Le Commerce, 15; plan of general agitation among the leading editors, 15, 16.

Labour, organization of, 352.

Lafontaine, death of, 556.

LaGrange, Col., revolutionary enthusiasm

——, Madame, her interview with Lamartine, 326.

Flottard, M., conduct and character of, 136; energies of, 163.

Foreign affairs, aspect of, 261; speech of Lamartine on, 459.

——, agitators in Paris, 359.

——, policy, Lamartine's view of, 266; of the provisional government, 434.

states acknowledge the republic, 361, 363.

Foucher, death of, 528.

Fourrier, political school of, 192.

France, her revolutions the renovation of her youth, 11; character of her revolutions, 2; causes of, 3; unsettled state of previous to the revolution of 1830, 10; journals of, ibid.; political writers, 11; state of public feeling at the close of 1847, 15, 26; foreign policy of, 226; alliance with England, 260; warlike preparations, 271; overtures to England, 277; her manifesto to Europe, 278; financial condition of, 278; exhaustion of the treasury, 285; financial panic, 319; Bank of, 322; increase of the army, 334.

Garde mobile, establishment of the, 184; its great services, 212; state of the, 418; formation of, for the departments, 444; enthusiasm of for Lamartine, 480; protect Lamartine from popular outrage, 591; his address to the, 532.

Garnier, M., named a member of the government, 127; his qualities, ibid.

Gazette de France, politics of the, 12.

Genoude, M. de, editor of La Gazette de France, 12; influence of his writings, 13.

Gerard, Marshal, character of, 6, 77.

Girardin, M. de, his sudden visit to the king, 72; character of, ibid.; advises abdication, 73; announces the king's abdication, 78.

Girondists, Lamartine's History of the, 18.

Goudchaux, M., appointed minister of finance; his retirement, 296.

Gourgaud, Gen., address to the mob, 112.

Government, various systems of proposed, 191-203. See Provisional Government.

Guizot, M., genius and character of, 10; his self-assurance, 26; his sentiments on government, 270. of, 55; proclaims the abdication of the king in the Chamber, 111; conduct of during the first night of the republic, 169; his efforts to restrain the mob, 227.

Lamartine, M., political banquet in honour of, 181; his speech on the revolution, 19; remarks on, 202; sentiments on the king's speech, 27; his opinions on the Paris banquet, 30; his reply to M. Berrier, 31; powerful effect of, 35; biographical notices of, 43; appointed minister plenipotentiary in Greece, in 1839, ibid.; political principles of, 44-48; his horror of Communism, 45; his popularity, 69; family of, 67; his position previous to the insurrection, 89; repairs to the Chamber, 90; is called to a council of republicans, 93; his character as given by the National and the Réforme, ibid.; he declares for a republic, 94; his speeches, 95, 104; his speech on the proposal for a provisional government, 116; his life attempted at the tribune, 125; his efforts to establish a provisional government, 126; elected a member thereof, 127; the difficulties of his position, 130-137; appointed minister for foreign affairs, 138; remarks on the dangers of the revolutionary storm, 140; the efforts and fatigues of, 140; the courage of his address, 145; decisive harangue at the Hôtel de Ville, 153; his alterations with the mob, 176; establishes the garde mobile, 184; obtains temporary rest, 188; popular opinion respecting him, 205; confronts the violent demands of the mob leaders, 221; arguments employed by, 227; their effect on the multitude, 223, 235; repeated harangues to the infuriated mob, 234-236, 238; his extreme danger, 238; proposition of to his colleagues, 240; his speech on universal suffrage, 245; his visit to M. de Montalembert, 249; his address to the deputies, 251; publishing the address by the people, 257; takes possession of the foreign office, 264; his views on the policy of the republic, 265; his opinions on foreign affairs, 266, 276, his sentiments on the policy of war, 272; his diplomatic instructions, 274; his manifesto to Europe, 279; his interview with Madame Sand, 374; his opinion of the elections, 379; proclamation drawn up by, 390; his speech to the delegates of the clubs, 396; his defence of the army, 398; is opposed to the views of the clubs, 401; his interview and conversation with Blanqui, 410, 417; popularity of, 448; his private conversation with his family, 450; his exhortations to Louis Blanc and Albert, 452; his speech to the volunteers of Château-Renoard, 453; enthusiasm in favour of, 458; his harangue to the military assembly blagés in defence of, 464; his triumph, 465; his speech to the National Assembly on resigning his powers, 485; his report, 493; appointed member of the executive commission, 516; resists the advance of the insurgents on the National Assembly, 532; danger of, from popular violence, 530; saved by the garde mobile, 531; his address to them, ibid.; marches at their head to the Hôtel de Ville, 533; his speech against the Bonapartists, 547; heads the troops against the insurgents of the barracades, 550; his interview with the insurgents, 550; his letter to the National Assembly on resigning his office, 552.

Lamennais, M. de, character of, 408.

Lamennaissen, M., character of, 410.

Lamoricière, Cien., character of, 143; conduct of, 90; sends in his adhesion to the provisional government, 145; his death, 550; his military energies, 567.

Land-tax, supplementary, determined on, 325.

Larochjaquelein, M. de, his speech on the regency question, 110.

Lasteury, M. de, aids the flight of the duchess of Montpensier, 311.

La Vendée, civil war in, 429.

Lafred Rollin, his speech in the Chamber of Deputies, 114; proposes a provisional government, 115; named a member thereof, 127; his departure, 127; his appointment minister of the interior, 136; his principles of, 166; his qualities, 204; his exertions, 237; his reception by the people, 257; measures of, 342; circular to his agents, 343; ill-timed provocation of, 344; differences with his colleagues, 375; his ministerial circular, 376; its dangerous tendency, 377; and dissatisfaction caused by, 378; his defence, 394; concerts defensive measures with Lamartine, 457; appointed member of the executive commission, 516.

Lefrançois, death of, 556.

Lesseps, M. de, ambassador to Spain, 369.

Liberty, trees of planted, 438.

Lombardy, revolution in, 431.

Louis Blanc, his conduct, 137, 146, 149; political school of, 149; after haranguing the mob, faints away for exhaustion, 216; his speech against capital punishment, 246; his system for organizing labour, 252; supports the socialist doctrines, 345; his address to the mob, 401; one of the leaders of the insurgents against the National Assembly, 477.

Louis Philippe, king of the French, character of, 4, 5, 6, 59; mistaken policy of, 8; unpolitical marriage of his son with the Infanta of Spain, 486; ministry of, 9; his self-assurance, 25, 41; his speech against the political bouquets, 27; unpopularity of, 41; nominate M. Thiers the prime minister, 62; his consternation at the progress of the revolution, 70; appoints M. Hariot prime minister, 71; M. Guadet wams him of the coming crisis, 72; his abdication, 73; 77; his flight, 86; his portrait destroyed, 129; the government concert measures for his escape, 249; uncertainty of his fate 250; course of his flight, 399; his arrival at Druyes, ibid.; relates the events of Paris, 390; his sojourn at Druyes, 391; receives the proclamation of the republic, 150; sudden departure from Druyes, 392. arrives at Anet and St. André, ibid.; at Evreux, 303; meets the queen at Cap d'Honfleur, 394; Capt. Paul aids his escape, 305; embarks at Havre for England, 307.

Louis XVIII, notices of, 4.

Louvres, palace of, sacked, 147.

Ludde, M. de, ambassador to Holland, 355.

Luxembourg, assemblages at the, 318; violent attack upon, 522.

Macon, political banquet at, in honour of Lamartine, 19.

Marat, character of, 196.

Marie, M., his speech on the proposed regency, 105; his address to the mob, 119; named a member of the provisional government, 127; his qualities, 127, 204, 335; appointed minister of public works, 138; noble conduct of, 161; temporizes with the public works, 335.

Marrast, M., editor of Le National, 13; influence of his writings, 14; his speech to the mob, 54; his conduct, 137; qualities of, 162, 459; his exertions, 238; mayor of Paris, 517.

Meetings, public, debate on the right of, 28.

Metternich, M. de, character of, 369.

Military, their sympathy with the people, 80; fraternise with the provisional government, 132; send in their adhesion, 145; reviews of the, 237, 463, 452; strength of, in Paris, 540, 542; disposition of to resist the insurgents, 555; deficiency of to put down the insurrection, 556.

Ministry of France, policy of the, 27.

Mob of Paris, See INSURGENTS.

Modern, revolution in, 431.

Molé, M., character of, 49.

Montagnards, armed resistance of the, 535; their commander Casssandre resigns, 535; dissolution of the, 540.

Montalivet, benevolence of, 337.

Montmorency, duke de, impolite marriage of, 8; urges the abolition of the king, 83; his flight, 311.

Municipal guards, massacre of the, 81.

Narvoz, General, character of, 367.

National, The, policies and influence of, 13; the insurgents assemle at the office of, 53; Marrast, the editor, 54.

National Assembly, list of the newly-elected members, 477; opening of, 484; the provisional government resigns its power to the, 485; Lamartine's address to, ibid.; pass a vote of thanks to the provisional government, 500; nominate an executive commission, 516; attack of the insurgents upon the, 523, 527; insurrectionary conspiracy to overthrow, 524—529; immediate danger of, 533; increased confidence of, after their defeat of the conspirators, 540, 569; confers the civil dictatorship on Cavaignac, 562.

—— guard, neutrality of, at the commencement of the revolution, 39; then sentiments respecting the revolutionary struggle, 42; new enlistment of a, 163; reviews of the, 256, 463; deputation of to Lamartine, 378; assembling of the grenadiers, 381; immense assemblage to put down the insurgents, 464; protect Lamartine, and defend the Hôtel de Ville, 481; M. Clement Thomas appointed commander-in-chief, 325.

National workshops, vast numbers employed in the, 336; alarming state of, 377; brigades of workmen, ibid.; bad arrangements of, ibid.; a mere temporary expedient, 336; the various classes engaged in, 543; dangers attendant on their dissolution, 544, 550; formidable insurrection of the workmen of, 552, 554; sanguinary conflicts with, and their final defeat, 558.

Nations, on the revolutions of, 1, 2; on the foundation of, 564.

Navy, measures for the regulation of the, 179; rapid organization of the, 299.

Negrier, Gen., notices of, 465; qualities of, 466; death of, 556.

Nemours, duke de, conduct of, on the assassination of the king, 87; his flight, 311.

——, duchess de, her grief and flight, 86.

Neuilly, palace of, burnt, 147.

Opposition party, coalition of the, 1st schisms of, 17; their meetings and discussions on the Paris banquet, 31; the banquet abandoned by, 36.

Order, restoration of, 259.

Orleans, duchess of, notices of, 75; council of the, 17; interview with Dupin, 481; goes to the Chamber of Deputies, 89; her entry into the chamber, 101; character of, 116; escape from the chamber, 153; flight of, 310; popular respect for, ibid.

—— dynasty, foreign policy of, 567.

Oudinot, Gen., conduct of, in the Chamber of Deputies, 103; speech of, 104.

Pags, Garnier, named a member of the provisional government, 127; his qualities, 127, 129; courageous conduct of, 161, 321; his exertions, 237; accepts the ministry of finance, 297; appointed member of the executive commission, 516.

Pagon, appointed secretary of the council, 140, 517; difficulties and perils of his position, 149; energies of, 151.

Palais Royal, attacked and burnt by the mob, 147.

Palmerston, Vis., his liberal conduct to the French republic, 432.

Paris, political banquet proposed by the opponents of the government, 16, 30; military preparations to suppress it, 37; agitated state of, 38; proceedings of the mob, 39; revolutionary state of, 56, 133; confusion and tumult in the streets, 146; state of, during the first night of the republic, 164; the assassin of, 251; clubs of, 357; foreign agitators in, 358.

——, archbishop of, death of, 576.

——, duke de, dangerous situation of, 123.
INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.

INDEX.