only Dr Brydon reaches Jalalabad, held by Sir Robert Sale, on Jan. 13.

Jan. 12: General Nott defeats the forces of Muhammad Akbar Khan and Safdar Jang, at Qandahar.

Jan. 15: Brigadier Wild enters the Khaibar and captures Ali Masjid, but for want of support abandons it and retires. 26th: General Sale and Capt. Macgregor concert with the officers for a safe conduct through the Khaibar; Capt. G. Broadfoot and two others oppose this and the reply from Shâh Shujâ‘ being unsatisfactory, Jalalabad is put in a state of defence. Feb. 15: The Commander-in-Chief, Sir J. Nicolls, with Sir George R. Clerk, Governor-General's agent, and Capt. Henry Lawrence, authorised to relieve Jalalabad, General Pollock to carry this out and then return. Feb. 19: An earthquake shakes down much of the defences at Jalalabad and is followed by very many shocks for a month.