TWELVE ENGLISH STATESMEN.

"A Series of Short Biographies, not designed to be a complete roll of famous Statesmen, but to present in historic order the lives and work of those leading actors in our affairs who by their direct influence have left an indelible mark on the policy, the institutions, and the position of Great Britain among States."

The volumes are as follow:

WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR. By Edward A. Freeman, D.C.L., LL.D. [Ready.]

The Saturday Review says:—"A little book, of which the learning and solidity are beyond dispute. . . . Mr. Freeman has given in this volume a vigorous sketch, which is more than a summary of what he has said before. He has given an admirable account of William's training, William's character, and William's work—an account which could not be amended within its own limits."

HENRY II. By Mrs. J. R. Green. [In the Press.]
EDWARD I. By F. York Powell.
HENRY VII. By James Gairdner.
CARDINAL WOLSEY. By Professor M. Creighton. [Ready.]

The St. James's Gazette says:—"The main interest of Wolsey's career is to be found in the story of his foreign policy. This story Canon Creighton has told, as might have been expected from so profound a student of the Reformation era, with much knowledge, judgment, and accuracy of detail."

ELIZABETH. By the Dean of St. Paul's.
OLIVER CROMWELL. By Frederic Harrison. [In the Press.]
WALPOLE. By John Morley.

WILLIAM III. By H. D. Traill. [Ready.]
