ENCYCLOPÆDIA BENGALENSIS,
Or a series of publications in English and Bengali,
Compiled from various sources.

ON HISTORY, SCIENCE, AND LITERATURE,
EDITED
BY THE REV. J. M. BANERJEA.

The following are some of the subjects which the series will embrace,—viz.

ANCIENT HISTORY;—Egypt, Babylon, Greece, Rome, India.

MANNERS, CUSTOMS, OPINIONS, &c. of the Egyptians, the Babylonians, the Persians, the Greeks, the Romans, the Hindus, and the other Asiatic nations.

MODERN HISTORY;—Of Europe, England, India, Bengal, America; &c.

SCIENCE;—Geography, Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Metaphysics, Moral Philosophy, &c.

BIOGRAPHY;—Of eminent men,—Politicians, scholars, &c.—European and Asiatic, ancient and modern, more after the simple form of Cornelius Nepos than of the elaborate one of Plutarch.

MISCELLANEOUS READINGS;—Containing detached pieces of various kinds, adapted to the comprehension of the natives of Bengal. Anecdotes, orations, special accounts of travels and voyages may be embodied these.

1. The volumes of this Encyclopædia are not to be necessarily inseparable from one another, except when they are parts of one and the same work.

2. They are generally not to consist of more than 300 pages or less than 100 pages each.

3. The editor cannot determine at present how many numbers are to be published yearly; the publishers cannot, therefore, precisely what the annual cost of the series will be to subscribers. The value of the numbers annually published will perhaps average from 10 to 15 Rs.

4. To subscribers advancing 12 Rs. (which may be estimated as the average amount of subscription per annum) a discount of 20 per cent. will be allowed. Accounts will be rendered annually of the advances received and the books supplied.

5. To charitable and benevolent institutions subscribing for a large number of copies a discount of 20 per cent. will be allowed.

6. Besides the Diglot edition in English and Bengali, other edition will be printed only in Bengali.
